BUSINESS CONFIDENCE GROWING SINCE JAN. 1

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE

Washington—Just what the president's committee of businessmen can do to bring about greater business activity may be difficult to assess, but the psychology of the meetings held here by executives is expected to help build up the confidence in the business outlook which has been growing steadily since the first of the year.

Reports from all parts of the country indicate that the revival has begun, but it does not extend by any means to all lines, nor is it anything but a gradual and gentle upturn of the business curve. It is the fact that curve is upward, however, which has brought a feeling of satisfaction.

The employment figures were the first sign that a change for the better had taken place, but the news that steel mills were running at a higher capacity than the last few weeks perhaps had the greatest psychological effect of all, for steel is considered a good barometer of industrial activity.

While to a certain extent the figures on prospective construction are discounted as hopes rather than as assured plans, nevertheless, the construction business has taken a spurt and reports from various centers where unemployment has been acute are that the building activity is taking up much of the slack already.

MAKES NORMAL COMEBACK

The committee which told the president that business needs no stimulus reversed some of the psychology of last December by pointing out that the recession was being taken care of through the normal recuperative powers of the country.

There were many people of prominence in business who commented adversely on the impression of distress which the earlier business meetings in Washington gave, so it

SWEDISH SOCIETY GIVES MEDAL TO GEN. NOBILE

Stockholm, Sweden —(AP)— The Swedish Geographical society last night presented its medal to General Umberto Nobile, Italian commander of the disastrous Italia polar expedition of two years ago.

General Nobile lectured before the soicety on the polar expedition and paid a hearty tribute to Finn Malmgren, Swedish meteorologist and member of the expedition who died on the ice north of Spitzbergen while going for help.

In lecturing before the Anthropological society General Nobile declared that when the dirigible Italia took the fatal nose dive which ended in the catastrophe he gave orders for ballast to be released, but that the order was not executed with sufficient dispatch.

In addresses in Sweden thus far he has dealt only briefly with the Italia's unfortunate end, but has devoted his time to discussion of the extensive preparations necessary for such an expedition, and to meteorological conditions in the Arctic.

TEXAS TOWNS BOYCOTT WISCONSIN PRODUCTS

Corpus Christi, Texas—(AP)—W. G. Kinsolving, president of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday that numerous south Texas towns and irrigation districts are boycotting Wisconsin manufactured products as a direct result on the ban on certain Texas real estate companies operating in Wisconsin.

He asserted that orders placed with Wisconsin firms by Texas irrigation districts and others, totalling several million dollars, had been cancelled.

A conference is to be held Jan. 28 at the state capitol to consider the Wisconsin land ban.

SOLONS BACK WITHOUT QUESTIONING ATTORNEY

Milwaukee—(AP)—Losers in what they called a game of hide-and-seek with Richard Henry Lee, New York attorney, three of the Wisconsin legislature's five campaign investigators were back in Milwaukee today.

But all three united in saying that they are not through searching for Lee, who was to have been questioned in New York on his contribution of $5,000 to the Progressive fund in 1928, only he couldn't be located.

TIGHTER IMMIGRATION BILL GIVEN TO HOUSE

RACKOW JURY EXPECTED TO DECIDE TODAY

Fond du Lac —(AP)— The prosecution in the case of Arthur Rackow, 24, accused of murder of his young wife, Elsie Leone, by poisoning, was optimistic today as the jury of nine men and three women resumed deliberations. A verdict was expected late this afternoon.

The jury returned shortly after noon today to ask for the reading of the testimony of Rackow and his step-father-in-law concerning an alleged threat made in the latter's basement just before or after the warrant charging murder had been served on Rackow. The jury's questions concerned the credibility of Rackow's testimony, because of disagreement between the testimony of Rackow and his relative on this point.

Rackow, son of a wealthy town of Eden farmer, escaped a verdict in the case last fall when the jury disagreed.

His wife took suddenly ill last May and died a few hours later. An autopsy, testimony showed, indicated traces of poison in her stomach. Testimony from the first trial was introduced to show that Rackow and his wife quarreled and that he had an affair with a former Fond du Lac school teacher.

Starting deliberations at 8 o'clock last night, the jury returned at 11 o'clock to report that it had made progress toward reaching a verdict but was not yet ready to submit its findings.

Judge E. V. Werner ordered the jurors locked up for the night and set 9 o'clock as the time for them to resume deliberations. Rackow sat nonchalantly in court as the jury filed in, and displayed the same confidence which has marked his demeanor throughout the second trial.

BOUQUETS GALORE FLUNG IN SENATE

They're All Aimed at Curtis, Who Celebrates Seventieth Birthday

Washington—(AP)—Charles Curtis, once a boy in an Indian reservation and now vice president of the United States, today celebrated his seventieth birthday with his ancient political foes, the Democrats, joining Republicans in tributes, congratulations and best wishes.

As the senate convened, Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, a physician, gained the floor and said that it was his opinion as a doctor that the vice president would have many more years in which to serve his country.

Curtis, who served 29 years in the senate from Kansas, smiled at this and replied, "thank you."

It was the beginning of a deluge of plaudits. Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, rose to praise the vice president. He was followed by Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire. Then Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, asserted:

"I sincerely hope you will be president of the United States of America."

The senate was not yet through. Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, described the career of the vice president as "inspiring" and added that "the youth of this country will be inspired by reading the story of this remarkable man."

Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, said Curtis had been a bulwark of strength in every conflict "in which the party was involved and when the fundamentals of the government were at stake."

BUILDING BILL WINS COMMITTEE APPROVAL

Washington—(AP)—The house bill increasing the public buildings program by $230,000,000 was ordered favorably reported to the senate today by its public buildings committee.

The additional appropriation is to be divided equally between the District of Columbia and projects throughout the nation.

The authorization would bring the total public buildings program for the district to $150,000,000 and for the country at large to $362,000,000. The measure is part of the expansion policy advocated by President Hoover.

START POST-CRESCENT SKATING RACES AT 1 O'CLOCK TOMORROW

The Eighth Annual Post-Crescent skating tournament, postponed from last Sunday because the ice rink was in poor condition, will be held at the Jones Park rink, tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock. An even 50 skaters have entered. They represent the class of speed skaters in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Little Chute and New London.

The ice is in excellent condition and indications are that good time will be made. The races are starting early because of a hockey game late in the afternoon. Skaters entered in the junior and intermediate boys' events are asked to be ready for the first gun at 1 o'clock sharp. There will be no delay because of the limited time. Skaters not present when their names are called will not be able to compete.

Skaters are asked to obtain their numbers at the Post-Crescent Saturday evening at the main office counter which will be open until 7 o'clock. Those who do not get numbers then will receive them before the races begin. Every person interested in out-door sports is invited to see the races.

Parrots Are Denied Entry To Country

Washington—(AP)—With the importation of parrots prohibited through presidential decree, government health officials expect to have the current outbreak of psittacosis, or parrot fever, "well in hand" within a short time.

This view was expressed by Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming after President Hoover had issued a proclamation placing an embargo upon the birds. Previously he had told the chief executive that immediate action was necessary.

Mr. Hoover's proclamation was issued late yesterday and set forth that for an unlimited period, "no parrot may be introduced into the United States or any of its possessions or dependencies from any foreign port."

Parrot fever is a mysterious and often fatal malady contracted, it is believed, only from infected parrots. It resembles typhoid fever, but is complicated by pulmonary symptoms similar to those present in pneumonia. So far as is known it is not communicable from person to person.

In the course of the recent outbreak, eight deaths have been attributed to this disease and more than fifty illnesses have been reported as widely distant localities as Minnesota, Maryland, Ohio, Florida, California, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New York.

Previously, the disease had been so rare that no serum or other specific had ever been developed for combatting the illness. Health officials say that treatment must be fitted to the needs of the individual patient by the attending physician.

"The most alarming aspect of the situation," Dr. Cumming said, "is that the disease has struck seriously and even fatally in such widespread areas, always closely associated with a recently imported parrot and always difficult to treat."

The embargo will be enforced by quarantine officers.

Tokio—(AP)—The coastal freighter Miyo Maru and her crew of 30 men today were believed to have been lost off the coast of Akita prefecture. The 1,450-ton ship sent out distress calls at midnight last night. A rescue ship tonight reported that it had searched fruitlessly all day for the Miyo Maru.

ROCKEFELLER HANDS SHINY NEW DIMES TO HARRY LAUDER

Daytona Beach, Fla. —(AP)— Harry Lauder has a shiny dime who told him the gift was "just from John D. Rockefeller, Sr., in case you ever did run out of money."

"Here's another dime for your wife," he said.

"Thank you, sir."

"And here's a couple for your children," continued the old magnate.

"Thank you, sir."

"And here are two, three, four dimes for your grand children." Then Mr. Rockefeller turned away.

Lauder pocketed the dimes. "I'll always keep them," he said. His closest living relative is a niece.

JUDGE OPENS INQUIRY IN PRINGLE SUIT

BULLETIN

Los Angeles —(AP)— Attempts by the defense to reopen hearing of evidence in the perjury trial of Garland Biffle, Witness in the recent Alexander Pantages attack case, failed today. Superior Judge Edward Henderson of Ventura-co, denied the defense motion. The effort was based on the assertion that Pantages' victim, Eunice Pringle, in filing a million dollar damage suit against him yesterday, had "perpetrated a fraud on the court."

Los Angeles —(AP)— The suit for $1,000,000 damages filed yesterday against Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire vaudeville magnate, by Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, he recently was convicted of attacking, today became the object of an investigation by Superior Judge Edward Henderson.

Judge Henderson directed Miss Pringle, her mother, Nicholas Duneav, author of the skit the girl was attempting to book on Pantages' circuit at the time of the alleged attack, Aug. 9, 1929, and the girl's attorneys, Theodore Gottsdanker and Hugh Dickson, to appear for questioning concerning charges of fraud made by a defense attorney in the perjury trial of Garland Biffie yesterday.

William T. Kendricks, Jr., Biffle's attorney, interrupted his closing argument when he heard the damage suit had been filed and asked that his client's defense be reopened on the ground that Miss Pringle, in testifying against Biffle, said she had decided not to file a suit against Pantages. Biffie a law book salesman, is accused of giving perjured testimony at Pantag.. trial, where he testified he overheard ..ss Pringle and Duneav plotting against the multimillionaire shortly before the asserted attack.

The suit asks $500,000 actual and $500,000 exemplary damages, charging Miss Pringle's name was damaged irreparably by the publicity given the Pantages trial.

Pantages, who is awaiting in the county jail the result of his appeal from a one to fifty-year penitentiary sentence, refused to comment on the suit.

Zimmerm.. dragged himself to the nearest phone and kept Meyers in custody until police ambulance arrived. It was Meyers to jail and Zimmerman to the hospital where he soon died.

Mrs. Felton, Senator For A Day, Dies In Georgia

Atlanta —(AP)— Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton, the only woman ever to sold a seat in the United States senate, pioneer temperance worker and author, died in a hospital shortly before midnight of bronchial pneumonia. She was 94 years old.

She contracted a cold on a trip to Atlanta last week from her Cartersville, Ga., home in the interest of the Georgia Training Schools for girls, but did not submit to treatment until she had completed her mission.

The senatorship, which she held for a period of 22 hours in November 1922, upon appointment by former Gov. Thomas Hardwick, was her only public office, but in that brief time she made a dramatic speech upon the floor of the senate which attracted national interest. She campaigned for Governor Hardwick, Senator Tom Watson, whose death made the vacancy which she filled, and her husband, the late Dr. W. H. Felton, who served several terms in congress.

From her farm home "the grand old lady of Georgia" led a "simple life," but continued to be active in politics until her death. She was a vigorous supporter of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith in his race for the presidency on the Democratic ticket in 1928.

During the campaign she said:

"I was a pioneer in temperance work in this state (Georgia) and I am not the oldest of militant temperance women of the early days I am certainly the oldest in point of age. So far as possible I have held the banner high for nearly half a century. When I enlisted in the organization it was non-political. I joined the W. C. T. U. 40 years ago.

The charge was filed by Mrs. Elizabeth Deakin, who said that a box of poisoned candy had been sent her. She declared Mrs. Tessman had been on inimical terms with her and had sought her death. Mrs. Tessman denied sending the package to her former neighbor and announced she would fight extradition. She was held on a fugitive warrant.

World War Tangle Enters Slaying In Pennsylvania

Phoenix, Ariz. —(AP)— A [illegible] in the Argonne forest, Sept. 2, 1918, had thrust itself into a puzzle surrounding the identity of a man variously known as Joe F. Wel[illegible] Joe Huston and Vern[illegible] Ackerman held by Arizona authorities for kidnaping and assault with intent to commit murder.

Ackerman, to use the latest of his supposed identities, was captured recently in the mountains near Lacey, Ariz., by a mounted posse, with Mrs. Irene Schrader and Walter Glenn Dague, after the two had kidnaped a deputy sheriff at Florence, Ariz., and engaged in a gunbattle with officers at Chandler, Ariz., in which the abducted man and another deputy were wounded. EVIDENCE STOLEN IN CITY SCANDAL

Missing Papers Were Prepared for Prosecution in Scranton, Pa.

Scranton, Pa.—(AP)—State, county and city police today were searching for several men who are alleged to have entered a hotel room last night and to have stolen evidence that was to have been used by Lackawanna-co authorities against some of the 78 persons indicted yesterday in the so-called slot machine scandal.

The room was being used by auditors who have been engaged for three weeks in checking the bank and stock brokerage accounts of 30 persons whose names have been linked with the slot machine investigation.

J. Julius Levy, special prosecutor in the case, said that arrests will likely be made today. The prosecutor believed the evidence taken could be replaced, but said that it would mean several more weeks extra work for the auditors.

Warrants are not to be issued immediately for the arrest of the scores of persons indicted yesterday. They will be afforded a reasonable time to appear and furnish bail.

Attorney Clarence Balentine, representing former Mayor E. H. Jermyn, said that Jermin would give bail today. Sheriff Gomer Davis, James Arigoni, former director of public safety, three borough chiefs of police and other officials also were expected to furnish bond today.

OSHKOSH MAN ARRESTED ON ARSON CHARGE

Failure of Radford Company to Pay Bonus Is Given as Motive

CONFESSES TO POLICE

Wanted to Burn "Only About $200 Worth of Warehouse Stock"

Oshkosh — (AP) — Because the Radford company, sash and door manufacturers, did not give him a bonus of $150 to $200 to which he felt he was entitled, Joseph Regnery, 55, a workman at the plant, confessed today, police said, he set fire to the company warehouse last night causing $125,000 loss.

Arraigned before Municipal Judge A. H. Goss today, Regnery pleaded guilty to arson. Judge Goss took the plea under advisement and will rule on it Jan. 29.

Regnery was arrested this morning after other employes told of threats he was alleged to have made against the company.

In his confession, police said Regnery told of starting the fire and added that he wanted to burn only "about $200 worth of the warehouse stock," and "didn't intend to burn the company out." The company discontinued paying bonuses last year.

He has been under parole several times to the chief of police for misdemeanors. He is being held at the county jail pending the judge's decision.

Company officials said the loss might reach $150,000 because the stock destroyed was exceptionally large. Great quantities of window sash, doors and other hours parts were stored awaiting the spring building [illegible] Oshkosh's fire fighting equipment fought the fire saving only the company office and factory.

SENATOR SAYS PUBLIC MUST BE INFORMED

French and Italians Try to Agree on Policies at Private Meetings

Washington—(AP)—Secret sessions at the London naval limitation conference were assailed in the senate today by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, as giving the international gathering "a black eye to start with."

In the first session of the London conference in the senate since the meeting opened, Senator McKellar commended Senators Robinson of Arkansas, and Reed of Pennsylvania, members of the American delegation, for their stand in favor of open sessions. This statement drew no reply from other senators.

"It will be recalled," McKellar said, "that the deliberations between President Hoover and Mr. MacDonald, when the latter was here, were secret and the public has never been taken into their confidence, apparently on either side of the water. Great questions like this should not be settled by government agents in secret. The people of the two countries are entitled to know what is going on when their vital interests are being contracted about."

"I want to take this occasion," McKellar continued, "to commend Senators Robinson and Reed for their stand in favor of having open sessions. Of all international covenants this particular one should be open and openly arrived at. The very fact that the conference holds secret meetings, from which the newspapermen are excluded and from which the public is excluded, is enough to raise a doubt in the minds of all fair-minded citizens as to the propriety of such action."

OUTLINE POLICIES

London —(AP)— The French and Italian naval conference delegations in separate private conferences this forenoon outlined policies to be presented lated today in an important collaborative session at which the problem of parity between the two neighbors was to be considered.

Italian circles said they were still hopeful some arrangement might be reached by which France would be given such securities as to make her willing to accept the Italian principle of naval parity with any European continental power. Members of the French delegation also expressed hope a solution of the problem—which has come to overshadow all others of the conference—would be found.

There was, however, no indication either intended to recede from their former adamant positions, in which Italy demanded naval parity with any continental power and France has insistently refused it.

PHILIPPINES PROTEST CALIFORNIA OUTBREAKS

Manila —(AP)—General Dwight F. Davis today forwarded a message to Brigadier General Francis Parker, head of the bureau of insular affairs in Washington, containing a request by the Philippine government for the protection of Filipinos against violence such as that which occurred in the route at Watsonville, Calif., this week.

The request followed by a few hours a charge called to Representative Francisco Varona by Secretary Tasle of the Filipino community league of Stockton, Calif., that authorities of Watsonville, connived with rioters who killed one Filipino and beat others.

Tasle said Watsonville city authorities knew of the intended attacks at least two weeks before they occurred, but did nothing to prevent trouble.

MAY RAISE MONUMENT TO WILLIAM J. BRYAN

The measure called attention to Bryan's service in the house from Nebraska, his three campaigns on the Democratic ticket for the presidency and his activity as secretary of state in the Wilson cabinet. The William Jennings Bryan Memorial association of the district would be authorized to put up the monument.

WOULD BOOST ALCOHOL CONTENTS OF LIQUOR

Washington—(AP)—After a call at the White House, Representative Dyer of Missouri, ranking Republican on the house judiciary committee, said today he had suggested to President Hoover that the law enforcement commission be asked to fix the percentage of alcohol which could be manufactured in any beverage in compliance with the eighteenth amendment.

Dyer said the benefit of increasing the limit of alcoholic content within the non-intoxicating range would make legitimate the manufacture of a beverage which would be palatable and would eliminate the illegal but widespread practice of home-brewing.

The Wickersham commission, he added, undoubtedly would report to the president and to congress that beverages containing not more than 3 per cent of alcohol are non-intoxicating, and, in fact, possibly would express the conclusion that a change in the law would assist in enforcement.

DRY LEAGUE THREATENS SENATE QUIZ OF FORAN

Washington — (AP) — James K. Shields, superintendent of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon league, said today he expected a senate investigation of the charges against Col. Arthur F. Foran, collector of the port of New York, if President Hoover nominated Foran for reappointment.

At the treasury department it was said an investigation of the league's charges that Foran was lax in dry law enforcement in New York was under way. The treasury report probably would not be made public, it was added.

President Hoover had under consideration the recommendation of the two senators from New Jersey, for reappointment of Foran.

Shields has said that if the nomination were sent to the senate, the president would "flout the wishes of every dry in the country."

ESTABLISH NEW RULES FOR PASSENGER PLANES

Washington—(AP)—Changes in the air commerce regulations to require planes carrying passengers for hire to maintain an altitude of at least 500 feet while in flight or to land when unable to do so were promulgated today by the department of commerce.

New Outbreak Threatened In Paraguay-Bolivia Dispute

SEIZED ARMY PAPER LEADS TO NEW CRISIS

Intercepted Bolivian Document Called False — League Acts for Peace

Washington —(AP)— The Paraguayan legation here was under instruction today to present to the state department what was described as an intercepted Bolivian army communication ordering a general offensive against Paraguay.

Meanwhile, a message urging an amicable settlement of the present dispute in the Chaco Boreal was dispatched to the capitals of both countries by Foreign Minister Zaleski, as acting president of the council of the league of nations.

As made public by the legation, the alleged Bolivian army order was as follows:

ONE KILLED IN CLASH

Pablo M. Ynsfrans charge d'affaires of the Paraguyan legation was instructed to inform the state department that the Trugilio patrol is a detachment which the Paraguyans contend took part in the engagement on Jan. 16 at Isla Poi, which precipitated the present tense situation in the dispute over the ownership of the Chaco Boreal. Private Fernandez is said to be the Bolivian soldier reported slain.

Minister de Medina of Bolivia has repeately denied the authenticity of messages which the Paraguyan government has claimed to have intercepted in transit from General Kundt.

Zaleski said in his message that he believed he was interpreting the feelings of the league of nations in expressing confidence that "that no serious incident will compromise the success of pacific government."

The Paraguayan charge d'affaires in Paris recently protested to the league against alleged Bolivian military plans and submitted a copy of a message alleged to have been intercepted by wireless and professing to give Bolivian plans for an attack on Paraguayan forts.

HOPE TO SAVE LOCALITY FROM WAVES OF PACIFIC

Los Angeles—(AP)—Point Firmin, which a year ago appeared ready to drop the homes of a score of families into the Pacific ocean under the ceaseless battering of waves against its natural limestone buttresses, is going to put up a stiff front before falling apart. City engineers today proclaimed the locality temporarily safe for habitation.

Cavernous earth cracks, which have split portions of the point asunder in the last few months, have been filled by the city; streets made passable, sewer mains patched, shattered house walls jointed together or rebuilt and new home hunting expeditions by the residents postponed or abandoned.

Engineers, who haven't been able to tell exactly what internal ground structure collapsed and precipitated the slide seaward, hope the point has reached the end of its rope, figuratively speaking, and will stay put.

The score of residents were thrown into a miniature panic last spring when the seriousness of the slip became apparent by the earth cracks, which widened at the rate of nearly an inch a day. In places the crevices were nearly a hundred feet deep and six feet wide at the surface

LAWRENCE ABANDONS SCHOOL TRACK MEET

The Lawrence college athletic department will no longer be host to the annual spring high school track meet, it was announced today. The action was taken in view of the greater emphasis Lawrence is placing upon varsity track and the necessity of a spring schedule which conflicts with the high school meet. Lawrence, with its new gymnasium and its improved cinder track, will be host to the Midwest college conference meet.

Lorenzo The Magnificent Lives Again For Night In All His Lordly Splendor

New York — (AP) — Among Manhattan's skyscrapers in a modern Broadway hotel five thousand New Yorkers moved last night through scenes that whispered of the days when Lorenzo the Magnificent ruled Florence and the Renaissance rocked the land.

As kings and queens, ambassadors and artists, beggars and peasants they danced and paraded in the Astor's brilliantly lighted ballrooms, decked with the velvet and gold trappings of fifteenth century Italy in honor of the Beaux Arts ball.

The courts of king, the palace of the Medicis, the scenes of the renaissance when Michelangelo and Botticelli and Cellini labored to lay their best at the shrine of art were all reproduced. And moving through the scenes, giving them life, went the New Yorkers, arrayed in the satins and jewels of French and Italian and Spanish costumes of five hundred years ago.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent on the costumes and pageant, scores of modistes and designers labored for months on the designs, and hundreds of anxious prospective guests pored over colored costume plates that their array might fit correctly into the renaissance spirit of the ball.

Nor were these the only ones interested in the affair. Outside on Broadway where theatre lights blazed and taxis zig-zagged right and left, throngs of other Manhattanites gathered to view the arrival of the gold-bruided courtiers and their bejeweled ladies. Flashlights boomed, traffic halted and the onlookers pushed, the better to see from behind the wall of blue-coated policemen that held them in check.

Inside the hotel the three ballrooms were transformed to scenes of medieval Florence. The central room became "Il Palazzo," hung with drapes of crimson and gold, drawn apart with golden cords; the north ballroom was treated as "Il Cortile," a courtyard garden; and the south ballroom represented "Il Mercato" where the wares of the market place were displayed.

At midnight, silver trumpets announced the pageant. The red-coated musicians struck up the overture and down the long staircase that led into the main ballroom the history of the Renaissance began to unfold.

After the prologue with Dane and Beatrice came the period of the ascent of knowledge—Gutenberg with his printing press, Galilio and his pendulum, Bocaccio and the beautiful women about whom he spun his tales.

Then came the banquet scene in the palace of Lorenzo the Magnificent. The head of the de Medicis and his court, nobles from Milan, Rome and Venice, pages bearing golden trays holding roasted peacocks; bearers staggering under flagons of wine, Benevenuto Cellini and his brother silversmiths, Michelangelo and his followers, Botticelli and his fellow artists paraded up the steps to receive medals for their work. Then the pageant changed swiftly to scenes of tumult with Savonarola leading his Dominican monks in the "burning of the vanities."

There followed the scene on the Field of the Cloth of Gold with Francis I, Catherine, queen of England; Claude, queen of France, and the nobles of the French and English courts. The pageant closed with a representation of the court of Ferdinand and Isabella and the return of Columbus from America with a horde of sailors and Indians bearing souvenirs from the New World.

Under the blaze of lights the costumes that had cost small fortunes gleamed and shimmered. Mrs. James Snowden as Queen Isabella wore a gown of gold lace over orange satin with a sweeping train of gold lace bordered in sable, a jewelled standing collar and crown of brilliants. Miss Anne Kieswetter as Anne Boleyn was costumed in green and tangerine velvet bordered in cloth of gold.

But brilliant as the array of the feminine contingent was, that of the courtiers and kings almost eclipsed it. Ben Ali Haggin as Lorenzo the Magnificent paced about in a costume of orange and gold brocade with a cloth of silver coat ornamented with golden chains that cost $1,500. Purple velvet embroidered in gold with a scarlet velvet cloak trimmed in silver braid formed the costume which L. Gordon Hamersley wore as the duke of Norfolk, while Frazier Jelke, as a Venetian gallant, was fitted in a suit with sleeves lined with silver and a blue velvet cap with a silver tipped pheasant tail dangling from the side.

At the close of the pageant the orchestra swung into dance music and the 300 members of the pageant cast and their watchers swung onto the ballroom floor. Far into the morning hours they danced. Dawn came as many of them whirled on. Breakfast time arrived—the courtiers of Lorenzo de Medici and Francis I dived into ham and eggs and then made their way homeward to step back into business suits and turn their thoughts to modern affairs.

PHYSICIAN TRYING TO REACH ISOLATED STRICKEN IDAHO MAN

Red River Hot Springs, Idaho —(AP) A rescue party which left this outpost to "mush" deep into the central Idaho waste land to aid a miner suffering from blood poisoning today faced the possibility of reaching its goal too late.

Dr. P. J. Weber, who is rushing to the Copper King mine near the summit of Green Mountain to minister to Roy Burke, the miner, said he would push through to the mine even though he felt Burke might already be dead. Burke was stricken with blood poisoning five days ago, and the only treatment has been given him by unskilled fellow mine owners.

The party headed into the glacier-scarred region by dog sled, piloted by Sumner Stonebreaker, of Rodino, Idaho. Lee Pettibone, of Grangeville, Idaho, guided them. As the party left yesterday morning a heavy snowfall started.

PLOWS ORDERED TO WORK WHEN SNOW BLOCKS ROADS

The light snow fall late Friday afternoon and early Friday evening caused considerable drifting on side roads in the county and some of them were blocked by drifts, according to Frank Appleton, highway commissioner. However, 11 trucks were at work on roads all night and by Saturday morning most of the bad places had been opened for traffic. Truck drivers were ordered to remain at work Saturday widening the roads and putting the bad spots in better condition.

LOAN FUND SOUGHT FOR YOUNG INDIANS

Schneider and La Follette Both Back Project to Help Red Men

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Wash. Corrs.

Washington—A loan fund for ambitious young Indian men and women who want to go to get a higher education will probably be set up as the results of work now being done by Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., and Representative George J. Schneider of Appleton.

Representative Schneider's attention was called to two Menominee youths who want to go to the University of Wisconsin to study forestry and then to several other young Indians who are trying to find a way to get a college education. He took the matter up with the Bureau of Indian Affairs and obtained the bureau's approval of an amendment to be proposed to the Interior department appropriation bill which is now before the Senator Committee on Appropriations.

Senator La Follette will introduce the amendment and since it has the approval of the bureau, it is likely to be adopted by the Senate and concurred in by the house of Representatives after the Senate passes the bill.

This amendment provides that the unexpended balances of the fund set up for industrial assistance to Indians and the reimbursable appropriation may be used for making loans to worthy Indian youth to enable them to talk educational courses in colleges or universities.

TRIES TO CUT DOWN $12 HE MUST PAY HIS BLIND MOTHER

Chicago — (AP) — It was the first time in six years that Leo Edelstein had been over to see his mother.

Mrs. Ida Edelstein is blind and an invalid. Under a court order her son, manager of a chain of shoe stores, has been contributing $12 a week to her support.

After talking with her, Edelstein slipped a piece of paper in her hands and went away. When her daughter came home, Mrs. Edelstein said: "Leo was here, and he gave me a check for a present."

The daughter looked. It was not a check. It was a summons to appear in court to show cause why the $12 allowance should not be reduced.

It was necessary to bundle Mrs. Edelstein in blankets and carry her to court yesterday. An attorney was there to represent her. When the facts were before him, Judge J. L. Weaver of the county court said: "I shall not reduce the payments. I only wish there were some action before me so that I might order them increased."

Palm Beach Goes Back To Backgammon For Society

BY HELEN VAN HOY SMITH

Palm Beach, Fla. —(AP)— Late January finds social affairs in Palm Beach on the crescendo. The past fortnight witnessed the arrival of distinguished folk from all parts of the United States and a sprinkling of important foreigners has imparted a cosmopolitan air to society assembled under the palms.

The week was given an auspicious start with the reception and tea by John B. Irwin, New York, at the Everglades club. More than 100 members of the exclusive set were in attendance.

Backgammon is being revived in Palm Beach this year. This old-fashioned game was enjoyed by many who attended the dinner dance at the Florida Embassy club, with which Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fell of New York, entertained on Monday night in honor of Mrs. Allan Gouveneur Wellman, also of New York.

* * *

Many beautiful and ingenious decorative schemes are employed for resort parties. Sprays of real orange blossoms were scattered down the length of the long table when Mr. William F. Bode of Chicago, entertained on Tuesday with a bridge luncheon in the Venetian room of the Breakers hotel.

* * *

Styles for the entire year seem to be crystallized at Palm Beach. Not for years have such low cut gowns prevailed for evening wear. The skirt has been given nearly all of the material in the rock worn by the fashionable woman from dusk to dawn. Flowing chiffons and satin vie with one another for popularity. Miss Alice de la Mar of New York, wore a handsome white satin gown at the Colony club during the week, while Mrs. Gilbert Miller, the former Katheryn Bache of New York was in flowered chiffon. Mrs. Albert B. Dewey, Jr., of Chicago was seen on the boardwalk wearing an oyster white Shantung frock, with moulded silhouette and low-applied fullness. Her black and white turban was draped about the head and tied at the side with a bow. She wore black and white slippers and carried an envelope bag to match.

JEWEL ROBBERY IN CALIFORNIA NETS 2 BANDITS $25,000

Robbers Bind and Gag Their Victims, Cut Wires and Make Escape

San Francisco —(AP)— Search for two masked robbers, who interrupted a party at the Parker-ave home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Campbell Smith, wrested several thousand dollars worth of cash and jewelry from the hostess and 11 guests and escaped after binding and gagging their victims, was under way here today.

Police estimated the amount of loot at $25,000 and said the robbers had used linen tape to bind the guests.

Before their departure, one of the robbers, turned to one of the guests, Mrs. Alice Campbell of Piedmont who had just given up a diamond and pearl platinum bracelet, which she valued at $15,000 and remarked with a sneer:

"What a cheap outfit! Just a dime-a-dozen crowd."

The robbers rang the Campbell-Smith doorbell during a party which included 11 friends of the hostess. A servant answered and was roughly brushed aside by one of the men while the other, walked into a drawing room where Mrs. Campbell Smith was dancing.

"Stick 'em up, everybody!" he ordered. "And don't hesitate."

He was joined a moment later by his smaller confederate who lined the guests against a wall.

While the taller man menaced the crowd, the other searched each victim. Cash and jewelry were dropped into a tablecloth and one-by-one the guests were bound with tape and the bandits carried with them.

Women were carried to bedrooms and dropped on the floors. Men guests were ordered to lie down and make no noise. The pair then gathered up their loot, conversing in disparaging terms about the "cheap" haul. The smaller robber appeared nervous, dropping his gun several times.

After cutting the telephone wires the robbers pulled down the window shades and left by the front door. The robbery, police were told, took more than an hour.

Men guests were first to work loose from their bonds and after releasing the women they ran to a neighbor's and gave the alarm.

NET FROCKS LAST IN SPRING STYLES

Brighter Colors Are Noticeable in Up-to-minute Creations

BY AILEEN LAMONT
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

New York—Though in some danger of being killed by popularity, the net frock continues with us through the spring. It is taking unto itself brighter colors, and acquiring a bertha as often as not. Flame red, water-blue and rich brown nets vie with nets of dawn pink, green and orange. No material falls more tractably into the womanly lines still demanded. And one is better able to look like a long skut, though any one can see through this transparent pretense.

Here's a pretty pass, and a good thing Queen Victoria doesn't know about it. Corsetieres report that an alarmingly large number of London ladies balk at buckling their contours in the elaborate corset demanded by womanly styles. They wear the styles, but insist on being untrammeled. The result is bountiful bulges which bid fair to make either the bulgers or the styles unpopular.

The blouse is so important an adjunct of the spring suit that, as a rule, for each suit three blouses are made. The idea is really economical, since with each blouse the suit takes on a different appearance. One blouse is white, often of a knitted fabric, the second is frilly muslin and the third is a silk or cotton print. Each blouse, however, has some color or gewgaw which matches the suit so that, whichever blouse be worn, the suit is still an ensemble.

REAL ESTATE MEN WANT TAX REFORM

Would Organize With Home Owners in Favor of Closer Cooperation

Phoenix, Arz.—(AP)—With the national tendency toward alleged overtaxation stressed by various speakers as one of the principal causes of depression in home building activities, members of the National Association of Real Estate board are expected to go on record at the last session of the midwinter business meeting here today as favoring tax reforms.

Leonard P. Reaume of Detroit, Mich., in an address yesterday following his installation as president, declared "It is necessary to organize home owners and real estate owners of the country to work with local real estate boards for their tax rights." He pointed out that a closer cooperation between home owners, real estate owners and members of the real estate professions might quickly effect radical changes in the tax situation.

Reaume, who attended President Hoover's recent economic conference in Washington, estimated that real state in the United States as present is valued at not less than $175,000,000,000, and that $35,000,000,000 of that amount is represented by 11,000,000 individual home owners.

It was pointed out that 50 per cent of the homes constructed in 1929 were of the multiple type, flats and apartments. Harry H. Culver, retiring president, said that development resulted from an effort to decrease taxes.

WIFE CAN "CHEAT" IF HUBBY IS GONE MUCH, JURY HOLDS

And She Can't Be Blamed if He Is Shot in Consequence

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

Chicago —(CPA)— It is a woman's privilege to "cheat" and she cannot be blamed too much if her husband gets shot in consequence provided he spends almost no time at home.

This unique conclusion was reached by a jury here late Thursday night when it aquitted Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien of the charge of murdering her husband. He had been killed by Howard Dorr, Mrs. O'Brien's lover, when he interrupted a love tryst between the two. Dorr was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for his part of the crime.

Five ballots were necessary, but finally the jury decided that O'Brien, who worked days in the county recorders office here, and nights as a street car conductor, sleeping only four hours a day, was guilty of neglect. They are reported to have figured that he should have spent more time at home and was partly to blame for not doing so.

Court fans, who have grown in number and enthusiasm during late months partly because of the popular court-room talkies, had been hankering for a sensational trial for months. Chicago's reputation as a city of murders has been lost during recent months by the market slump in killings, and as a consequence fans have had few thrills.

When the trial of Dorr was opened, the jam reached such proportions that sensation hungry individuals were offering as much as $5 for a place in line which would insure them a seat. The judge, advised of the situation, had to order a stop to this seat selling practice. The fans had figured that if a cooked up theatre court room scene could draw crowds at $4.40 a seat, the real thing should be worth equally as much.

After the Dorr trial, came almost immediately the trial of Mrs. O'Brien and the same struggle for seats was staged.

COPS QUARREL OVER PATROL DRIVER; ONE SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Chicago —(AP)— One police officer was shot and seriously wounded by another early today as they fought over the question of who was to drive the patrol wagon.

Policeman George Sirovatka, driver of the patrol, was taken to a hospital with bullets in his abdomen, chest and left arm. Officer George Polaski said he shot Sirovatka after Sirovatka had fired first.

Sirovatka, fellow officers said, had been drinking and they suggested the wheel. When Polaski and another policeman attempted to pull him into the rear of the wagon, in which were three prisoners, Sirovatka resisted, and the shooting followed.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS WOULD PROLONG FIRE PREVENTION DRIVE

Claim One Day Meeting Would Not Be Sufficient to Do Work

A continued program which would cover a period of from one to two weeks rather than just one day, for the proposed Fire Prevention campaign for this city seemed to be the concensus of members of the general committee in charge of the campaign at a meeting in the chamber of commerce offices, Friday afternoon. All members of the group were present.

A committee composed of C. K. Boyer, chairman, John Weiland and James Whalen was appointed to make a further study of the city in preparation for the campaign. The committee will report at the next meeting of the group next week.

The purpose of the campaign will be to decrease fire hazard here. The program is to be divided into three divisions: Education, legislation and survey.

No definite date has been set for the campaign but it is expected it will be held the early part of next week, it was reported at the meeting. A dinner probably will close the campaign and it is expected 60 insurance men and adjustors will be present.

SEEK DATA HERE ON READING PROGRAM

Shorewood and Stevens Point Schools Want Information from Appleton

Requests for information regarding the reading program in the Appleton grade schools were received Thursday from the Shorewood and Stevens Point principals by Superintendent B. J. Rohan.

The reading program in the local schools, which has been under development for the past three years, is one that attracts considerable attention by educators and one which has the hearty approval of Miss Maybelle Bush of the state department of education.

The supplementary reading program has been worked out so that each September a box containing the best books on a certain subject — humor, folklore, biography—is sent to a school and remains there until spring. Concentrated work is put upon this set of books and all other books needed for supplementary reading are requisitioned from the library in the basement of Lincoln school.

At present Superintendent Rohan is working on an anlysis of basic readers for first and second grades. Through a careful study of the vocabularies of seven or eight different primers, Mr. Rohan is attempting to find the basic reader with the most useful vocabulary for youngsters. After this book is found he will seek the books which will most ably supplement the basic book, texts which have vocabularies similar enough to the first book to provide an opportunity for the children to meet the same words often enough for them to become established in their minds.

$10,000 SUIT FOR LOST AFFECTION GOES TO JURORS

New London Man Admits He Is Father but Denies Marriage

Otto Sommer's suit for $10,000 damages against William Riese, Black Creek, for alienation of his former wife's affections went to the jury in circuit court here at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Testimony in the case was completed at 10:30 and, Judge Edward Voight, Manitowoc, who is sitting in the case, permitted each of the attorneys an hour for argument and he spent half an hour in his charge.

Sommers was recalled to the witness stand to deny that he was ever married to Mrs. Louis Quartena, Milwaukee. Mrs. Quartena was called by the defense Thursday and said she and Sommers were married at Waukegan, Ill., and that he was the father of her 18-year-old son.

The New London man submitted he was the father of Mrs. Quartena's son but denied he ever married her. He said he had never been in Waukegan and didn't even know where the place was.

Witnesses from Milwaukee testified they had seen Sommers and Mrs. Quartena living together in Milwaukee and one of them said he introduced the woman as his wife. Evidence also was introduced to show Sommers had been convicted for non-support in Waupaca-co on a charge brought by Mrs. Quartena under the name of Mrs. Sommers.

Two character witnesses, one of which was Police Chief Lueck of New London, testified that Sommers had a bad reputation. The plaintiff countered with two witnesses Saturday morning which testified that Sommers was a man of good character and reputation.

Sommers charges Riese alienated his wife's affections and brought about the divorce which Mrs. Sommers secured in circuit court last November on a charge of cruel and inhuman treatment. Sommers also charged Riese inticed his wife to Pennsylvania.

Both the ex-Mrs. Sommers and Riese deny there were any improper relations between them. They claimed they were merely friends and had met through the plaintiff. Mrs. Sommers said she left her husband because he was manufacturing liquor and because he beat her and accused her of having improper relations with other men.

The picture has been adapted from Miss Miller's greatest stage success, and the dialogue production with singing and dancing on the most lavish scale ever attempted on the screen. A stellar supporting cast is with Miss Miller. Pert Kelton who played in Ziegfeld's "The Rita," Joe Donahue and Alexander Gray, the musical comedy favorite who starred in "The Desert Song," appear in the romantic lead. Joe E. Brown, Ford Sterling and T. Roy Barnes are the chief comedians in the gay and rollicking story of a circus girl who becomes a waiter and a hot dog waitress who becomes a star.

John Francis Dillon directed "Sally" which was adapted for the screen by Waldemar Young from the musical comedy by Guy Bolton and Jerome Kern. The best remembered melodies of the original stage production are heard, as well as additional numbers especially written for "Sally" on the screen.

The famous Albertina Rasch dancers appear in the ensemble numbers, and a company of more than 100 is seen in support of the star.

"Sally," which broke theatrical records in every large city in America when presented as a stage musical comedy, is also breaking box office records as a picture, and has already established Marilyn Miller as a screen star of the first rank.

Appleton Businessmen Predict Prosperous Year

STOCK CRASH FREES FUNDS, THEY BELIEVE

Manufacturing Concerns Operation at Normal Capacity

The stock market crash late last year was said by men in practically every important industry in Appleton to have had no immediate influence on business here and one business man declared the crash had loosened up funds so that some big business projects which had been temporarily delayed because of the uneasiness over the technical position of the market would now be started.

Bankers agreed that while the small towns suffered most as a result of the stock collapse, the losses were only a very small portion of the savings and affected only a very small portion of the city's residents.

William C. Wing, president of the Fox River Paper company, said that the company's plant here is operating at normal capacity and that orders are just as heavy as they were last January. The Fox river company, Mr. Wing said, contemplates the installation of considerable new and modern machinery during 1930.

SEES NORMAL CONDITIONS

The disaster in Wall Street has not affected the Fox River company's business in any way and it is not expected that it will have any affect, Mr. Wing said. The plant here is employing as many men as it ever did and there is no prospect that any of them will be thrown out of work as a result of poor business. Mr. Wing would not undertake to predict just how good business would be in 1930, but he did say that present indications prompted him to believe that conditions would be normal.

Other paper mill manufacturers agreed with Mr. Wing. One manufacturer said he saw some danger of a price cut, but he said that would be merely a matter for the trade and would not be likely to affect the operations of the mills in Appleton. He said the production probably would remain at the present level.

"We expect business in 1930 will exceed our business in 1929," predicted R. H. Purdy, general manager of the Tuttle Press, which manufactures paper specialties. "Strange as it may sound, the stock market losses last year have not affected our business in the least. But for all that was printed in the newspapers, we would scarcely have known there was such a thing as a stock collapse."

Mr. Purdy said that his plant is now running at a little above normal capacity and that orders are on a level with last year. In some special lines orders exceed last year's business. There is every prospect that this plant will continue to operate at the same rate throughout the year.

"Ours is a seasonal business but we are operating now at the same capacity as in January, 1929, and the outlook for this year leads us to believe that we may expect business to be on a level with what we experienced in 1929, said Dewey Zwicker, general manager of the Zwicker Knitting mills. "The stock market collapse in October and November has not been reflected in our business and we do not believe that it will be."

The same condition as prevails at the Zwicker Knitting mills prevails in about the same capacity in the entire knitting business, Mr. Zwicker said. He also said that his plant is employing as many people now as it had last year at the same time and that it expected it would continue to do so throughout the year.

"This talk about the stock losses affecting business so disastrously is a lot of nonsense. I think," said Elmer Rost, secretary of the Standard Manufacturing company, "While we cannot yet estimate the amount of home building and remodeling which will be done in the city the next year we can say that our business throughout the state has been added materially to the market collapse. It loosened funds and has created a more normal atmosphere in the business world. Many big building projects which had been in abeyance are now being started. We expect our business will be fully as good if not better, than in 1929."

RED RIOT IS BROKEN UP AT NEW YORK CITY HALL

New York —(AP)— A communist demonstration called in front of city hall as a protest against the fatal shooting of a man by a policeman during a recent riot in the Bronx, Jan. 13, was broken up today by police.

He was in a group of striking vegetable market employes who, during a disturbance precipitated by a policeman ordering pickets to disperse, surrounded Patrolman Kurtz and beat him and took his club away from him.

Kurtz fired twice, one bullet went into the air. The second hit Katovis in the neck.

BRITISH CRITIC DISCOVERS U. S. CHILDREN DRINK

Dramatist Speaks of Drunken Women, but Says Laboring Class Is Sober

Brighton, England — (AP) — St. John Ervine, the British dramatist and critic who sojourned in New York for a few months last year, has some interesting things to say about life in the United States.

The average Englishman, he said in a lecture here, has no conception of the immensity of the country and the complexity of its task of government. Some people expect and hope that the United States one day will break up into five nations; they contend the existing nation is too vast for one government."

American laws seem harsh to the English, but there's a reason, for "so many thousands of these people are not merely ignorant but uncivilized in 1927, 12,000 persons were murdered in the United States; the average annual figure in England and Wales is less than 150."

Mr. Ervine admitted it shocked him to discover that "children get drunk in the United States," but added:

"I don't want you to think that, if you go to America, you will see infants staggering about in the streets; but that any child at all can get drunk is a disgrace."

One of the youngsters he met socially was "a girl just returned from a children's party complaining that most of the children were drunk." Whether he investigated the truth of this particular complaint he did not say.

However, at the hotel where he himself was staying there must have been considerable commotion on New Year's eve. About 1,000 people were dining there, said Mr. Ervine, and at every table there was a drunken woman.

"I saw more drunken women in seven months in the United States," he added, "than I have seen in this country in seven years."

The speaker reminded his audience, however, that there are in the United States also many people who remain reasonably sober the year 'round.

"Practically all of those in the working class," he said, "are sober. They can't afford to buy drink."

No Sign Of Society War At Reception For Mrs. Gann

BY SALLIE V. H. PICKETT

Washington—(AP)—Washington society this week was treated to an event for which it had whetted its curiosity all season—the meeting of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister and official hostess of the vice president and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, wife of the speaker.

Actually, these two prominent figures in the capital's official society had met many times during the season at the White House and elsewhere, but not at a party given especially for either. The occasion was Tuesday night's reception at the Congressional club in honor of the vice president and Mrs. Gann, the invitations specifically setting forth this fact.

Not only were there present many members of the Senate Women's club, thought to be the real storm center in the Gann precedent controversy, but Mrs. Longworth also attended.

Vice President Curtis beamed in on the reception in the most pleasant manner and everyone beamed back. He stood beside Mrs. Porter H. Dale, wife of the Vermont senator and president of the Congressional club. Next to him stood his sister and beyond her, Mrs. Charles P. George, his daughter, who had come for a short visit with him.

Mrs. Gann was very handsome in her clinging black velvet gown with its deep cream lace yoke. Mrs. George wore a gown of deep rose pink chiffon.

Mrs. Longworth wore a modish gown of black and rose brocade over which was strewn a design of gold roses. There were flounces on the skirt and a bustle effect at the back. She carried under her arm a huge bag fashioned of the material of her gown and she wore jewels.

Then came the meeting. She greeted the vice president warmly, stopped to chat with him and paused for a longer chat with Mrs. Gann. If there was the slightest embarrassment, even those nearest were not able to detect it. There came a feeling that they might have been enjoying a big joke at the expense of the public. It looked that way, at least and each woman has a sufficient sense of humor to verify such a belief.

Remaining more than an hour, Mrs. Longworth later mingled with the guests and chatted, principally of her winsome daughter, Paulina, who she said liked posing for her portraits by two artists at once. It is for the Hungarian artists, Miss Elena and Miss Bert de Hellebranth, sisters, the small maiden has posed, each taking her from a different angle, in a different mood and working in a different medium. Mrs. Longworth confessed to liking the less serious portrait better.

Brimstone from the tipped over head stones in the old cemetery near the C. & N. W. depot furnished kindling for us kids?

An old shovel or a cast away wash dish pan made great coasters down the crust of the snow in the ravines in the winter?

We thought strange that visitors could see especial beauty in the river banks and ravines of Appleton even when brown and burned in a late dry Summer until we ourselves had been away from Appleton for a while and could then realize that for natural beauty one can seek a long time to find Appleton's equal?

They used to build walks around a tree rather than destroy the tree, the tree by the Elm tree bakery being one, and another well known one on Drew St.?

HIDDEN EQUITIES PULL MANY RAILS OUT OF BAD HOLES

Northwestern Improvement Co. Gives Northern Pacific Large Melon

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE

Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

Wall Street, New York—(AP)— The extra dividend of $3,500,000 which the Northwestern Improvement company has just declared and whose benefits accrue to the Northern Pacific railway, calls attention to the "hidden equities" of many of the large railroad systems of the country from which they derive a substantial annual income.

The Northwestern Improvement company has been paying a regular dividend to about $1,000,000 a year into the Northern Pacific treasury. Owing to the falling off in traffic this road would have shown smaller earnings per share of stock in 1929 than in 1928. With the "extra" of $3,500,000 from its subsidiary the return on the stock will be about 9.75 per cent against 8.52 per cent the year previous. The money really goes from one pocket of the corporation to another, but it gets into that one which is of most benefit to stockholders in the operating concern.

Other railroad companies that depend regularly on their subsidiaries for income to pay their own dividends and which are in a position to call on the former for extra allowances in ties of emergency, are the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Railway, Union Pacific and Erie and Atlantic Coast Line.

NORFOLK PAYS PENN

The Pennsylvania railroad and the Union Pacific have the largest investments in roads that are outside of their own family groups. To the Pennsylvania, the Norfolk & Western has been its most profitable investment. For this reason it is expected that there will be strong opposition on the part of its management to the interstate commerce commission's proposal that it turn this road over to the Wabash to form a part of the new Wabash-Norfolk & Western-Seaboard Air Line group. Dividends on Norfolk & Western common stock have been generous for many years and have helped the Pennsylvania railroad also to maintain a liberal dividend policy. Recently other subsidiaries of the Pennsylvania that for a long time had not produced income to the holding company have been found able to add their portion to the "other income" of the latter and assist it in maintaining its present return to its shareholders.

The Union Pacific for many years has had a large return on its investments which were purchased during the reign of E. H. Harriman and supplied a very considerable percentage of the total income applicable to common stock dividends. The most profitable of these investments has been the New York Central. By subscribing to the various new issues of stock on which dividends have been increased from $5 a share to $8 a share in recent years the Union Pacific has established an equity in an outside property that is a strong backlog whenever its own operating revenues decline.

CENTRAL HAS "MINE"

The New York Central is a third system that has been able to draw on its subsidiaries from time to time when it wished to make a more liberal distribution to its own shareholders. It has several properties that are classed as "gold mines" from the standpoint of their individual earnings, including the Pittsburg & Lake Erie and the Michigan Central. The latter is now paying a dividend of 40 per cent into the New York Central treasury and two years ago paid a 100 per cent cash extra.

The investment of the Baltimore and Ohio in the Reading, which was made years ago, has built up not only a strong income producer for it, but a traffic ally of the first rank. Baltimore & Ohio has, however, increased its own dividend without asking for a larger share in the profits of the Reading than it has been getting. In the event that the proposed consolidation plan goes through it is quite probable that Reading would pay a higher return to the Baltimore & Ohio than in the past.

During its very lean years the Erie railroad depended on the Pennsylvania Coal company which it owned, to help it out in paying interest on its bonds which it could not fully cover from its own operations. It is not too much to say that this subsidiary saved the Erie from receivership more than once. The Atlantic Coast line has a strong equity in the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, which came to it with the Louisville & Nashville. The Southern railway has also valuable equities which are steadily increasing in their ability to turn in income. The New York, New Haven & Hartford launched on a program of buying up all sorts of subsidiaries during the Mellen regime. These subsequently brought it close to the point of bankruptcy. Those that have been retained are now beginning to be productive and will play a part in helping this New England system to pay its present rate of dividend.

AWAIT DIRECT WORD IN PLEA TO ASSIST BYRD

Washington—(AP)—The state department today was awaiting direct information from Minister Swenson at Oslo replying to his instructions to obtain Norwegian cooperation for the relief of Rear Admiral Byrd and his Antarctic exploration party.

With no further request for cooperation from Byrd's backers, officials of the department remained confident that everything possible would be done to prevent the party from being marooned for another South polar winter with food supplies inadequate for the long siege.

The West is Coming Forward

NEA Washington Bureau

Senator Joseph Grundy of Pennsylvania recently branded the west as a collection of "backward states," but that was before Senator Grundy saw this picture. It proves conclusively that western statesmen in Washington hold their share, or more, of the really important senatorial committee chairmanships. "Young Bob" LaFollette of Wisconsin, leader of the insurgents, is chairman of the committee on manufactures (1); Borah of Idaho, foreign relations (2;) Norris of Nebraska, judiciary committee (3;) Hiram Johnson of California, commerce (4;) Smoot of Idaho, finance (5;) Thomas of Idaho, irrigation and reclamation (6;) McNary of Oregon, agriculture (7;) Wesley L. Jones of Washington, appropriations (8;) Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, public lands (9;) Frazier of North Dakota, Indian affairs (10.) Not a bad record for statesmen from "backward states," is it?

Replace "Romp And Stomp" With Waltz Says Leader

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS

New York—An orchestra leader, Leo Reisman, looks at life beyond his baton and sees the hard-boiled era passing, and one of suave sophistication being ushered in—all reflected in modern dancing.

"We are," he said, "gliding quietly out of the jungles, having leaped in with joyous abandon and raucous shouts. Dancers now do not romp and stomp nor musicians bleat and howl. It is as though we were drawing a veil of subtlety over our frank lives just as the girls are covering their knees and lowering the hems of their dance frocks. We are going sophisticated as fast as we went barbarous a year ago."

Reisman observes New York's social life from a select vantage point, since he conducts the dance orchestra for the exclusive "Casino," owned and operated and patronized by Manhattan's Four Hundred—and possibly a few more.

A CONDUCTOR AT 18

Having conducted orchestras since he was 18, in Baltimore, Boston and New York, he remembers well the sticky sentimentality of the music just before the jazz age which made the public appreciate the honest rowdiness of the vo-do-dee-o and boop-a-doop tunes which followed.

From ballrooms and night clubs he has watched jazz change dance music change dancing, change manners and morals, and now he sees this barbaric influence being assimilated into our dance music, but not dominating it. He sees the violins, the reeds, and the wood winds coming back into their own after the almost exclusive reign of the banjo, sax and horns.

"Music and dancing, molding, influencing each other, are the social barometers of an age," he continued. "You can read them and get an accurate social forecast. I see the most sophisticated era this country has ever produced.

"During this time while the youngsters have been romping and shaking the rafters with their jazz they have learned to dance, and to interpret music through the dance. While orchestras have been syncopating, they also have been developing and drawing better talent. Both arts have profited.

"Thus, when music again becomes sensual and romantic as it now is, the marriage license bureaus may have to work overtime."

SEES JAZZ AS LIBERATOR

Jazz, he believes, freed the world. It stirred up our old ideas and caused many workaday traditions to be discarded. Women particularly, dramatized their new found freedom in the dance.

"That," he explained "was merely history repeating itself. Dancing started as a religious expression. Not only in the tribal pow wows, but in the churches, dancing was part of the ritual.

"The dancing was done by the men, and when it was divorced from worship, it became a type of exhibitionism — the strong and stalwart young men of the tribes danced before the maidens and the elders to show their physical prowess.

"Folk dancing, a later development, gave both men and women an opportunity to dance, but usually they danced alone. Then came ballroom dancing, introduced by the old square dances and reels, which in time became so stilted and artificial that only some revolutionary change like jazz could have kept it alive.

BACK TO THE JUNGLE!

"Jazz took the world right back to the jungle and jangle and started everybody out anew, from the beginning. Music became more dissonant, as brass and cacophony ruled the day, and dancers revolted against the old formal routine. Incidentally, too, painting began to develop angles and curves and sculpture threw off a few shackles. All the arts entered into the spirit of abandon that the jazz age fostered. Dancing became wilder and madder until finally it was just a matter of athletics and endurance. But it brought freedom.

"However, nothing lasts, and eventually, we grew tired of expressing a freedom that no one questioned, and the old waltz stole back into the ballroom, timidly at first, but with a growing sense of importance. And now we are all headed back in the direction of romance and sentiment."

SAYS TASTE RETURNS

Furthermore, Reisman believes that taste is returning to life and manifesting itself in music.

"Today," he said, "we are playing waltzes so slowly they all but put one to sleep. We are encouraged to play coherent tunes with a languorous, emotional appeal. Dancing is no longer just exercise. Music, instead of jangling and hacking people, speakers to them softly and alluringly."

What is the world coming to? Reisman shrugged his shoulders and ran his hands through his hair before he replied:

"We may yet live to hear mothers yearn for the good old days of jazz when the younger generation romped and Charlestoned — and played at being little girls and boys instead of sophisticated grown-ups."

GRUNDY IS HARD WORKING MAN; HE RUNS OWN ERRANDS

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — (AP) — A stocky, florid-faced bachelor — Joseph R. Grundy—familiar throughout the country although the only public office he ever held is a seat on a small Pennsylvania town council, will enter the United States senate.

When William S. Vare was denied his seat in the senate, the name of the 67-year-old Pennsylvanian came to the front immediately. From the outset it has appeared that it was a question of whether Grundy would accept an appointment as Pennsylvania's junior senator.

Will Rogers once had a wisecrack which never failed to get a laugh: "I can't say. I haven't seen Joe Grundy."

The humorist always pulled this one when he was poking fun at Republicans and their attitude on governmental principles as they affected big business. And the inference was that the party first saw Grundy before a definite policy was decided upon.

There is no one who will dispute that Grundy is a power in the Republican party. And his power lies in the fact that he is a tariff expert.

To many the name is synonymous with tariff. It is the man's specialty—since 1890 he has had a finger in every revision. As president of the Pennsylvania manufacturers he is regarded as industry's leader in all matters relating to the economic structure of the nation.

Grundy is noted for thoroughness. He works all the time. On a recent holiday, while others were taking the day off, Grundy spent the entire day at the congressional library digging out tariff data.

When he enters his office for work he sheds his coat and vest. If the day is warm, he removes collar and tie as well. Seldom does he rely on others. If he wants anything, instead of ringing a bell for a secretary, he gets it himself.

Grundy takes no time for play. He has but one hobby: Politics as it affects the economic structure of the country.

Joseph R. Grundy, the Pennsylvania tariff expert, is an indefatigable worker. He is shown taking a walk and in portrait.

BRAZOS RIVER, TEXAS ASSIGNED HEAVY TASK

Austin, Tex. —(AP)— Texans contemplate spending $100,000,000 to make the mighty Brazos river work for them.

It is quite a task they have in mind for the river and its tributaries. They would irrigate thousands of acres of land, turn the wheels of many industries, develop electric power, supply drinking water and even use it for recreation.

The Brazos river conservation and reclamation district created to direct the project will seek the financial aid of state and federal governments.

DOG SAVES MASTER

Noblesville, Ind. — Another instance of the love of a dog for his master is related here. Walter Trietsche, 45, was gored in the chest by a cow. The family dog, hearing the trouble, rushed to the field and grabbed the animal by the nose and held long enough to allow Trietsche to escape. The dog then helped its master get home.

'In due time we reached France and the front line trenches. Shortly after our outfit began to move through the Argonne, a shell burst close to Tom and me, and tore nearly half his face off. He was rushed to a base hospital."

Ackerman explained further that he had been shell-shocked, "and I don't know what happened to me after that—months later I learned I was in Walter Reed hospital in Washington. I was there for months. I don't know how many, and then I was discharged with compensation."

The man said he served a term in Oklahoma State prison at McAlester for forgery, and another for grand larceny, being released last Dec. 26. "Then," Ackerman said, "I met the woman and Dague and you know the rest."

Informed of these statements in Pittsburgh last night, Mrs. T. P. Orr Owen, Florida contest contestant, said she is not convinced.

She recently referred to the commissions investigating crime and said they reminded her that 'parents might discipline their children a little more carefully for their first eight years nowadays and help out a lot. And they might set a better example than they do. Example is better than precept."

Her home became a shrine for hundreds who journeyed there to pay her tribute and she preached 'working hard and not worrying' as the best means of 'keeping young."

Less than two months before her death she made her first flight in an airship and was enthusiastic about aviation. The flight completed for her a cycle of travel from ox carts to the modern airship.

None of her five children survive Mrs. Felton, but a grandson, William H. Felton, was at her bedside. A granddaughter, Mrs. Alfred Ogram, lives at Gulfport, Miss., and a great granddaughter, Lillian Ann Felton, at Cartersville, Ga.

It is expected that she will be buried beside her husband in a Cartersville cemetery.

CHEVROLET SEES SALES INCREASE

Company Expects to Dispose of More Cars Than in January Last Year

Detroit, Mich. — Chevrolet will sell more cars this month than in January a year ago, according to H. J. Klingler, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, who announced on Saturday that the month's schedule had to be increased in response to the greater reception a new Chevrolet model has received in the nineteen-year history of the company.

Directly on the heels of the first showing of the new car on Jan. 4, a flood of congratulatory messages poured into the home office from every quarter of the country. Every message told of unprecedented public interest in the new car and a consequent increase in retail sales, with the result that the January schedule had to be revised upward to meet dealer requirements for immediate delivery, Mr. Klingler said.

That the step-up in the schedule resulted directly from the number of orders taken for the new car when it made its public bow, rather than upon an estimate of the month's requirements, is indicated in a statement from the Chevrolet sales executive:

"Our policy for some time," Mr. Klingler explained, "has been to key our production facilities to the anticipated needs of our sales organization so that dealers might not become over-stocked. On this basis we set our January schedule to parallel the sales forecast, but so many dealers, upon noting the public attitude toward the new car, have asked to have their quotas increased that our output for the month will now exceed the figure for last January.

"Messages from our dealers relating the public attitude toward the new car have come to us in greater numbers this year than heretofore, and every message radiates a note of complete confidence over the car's prospect. Large dealers are increasing their commitments for cars, and many small dealers, who formerly sold six or eight cars in a year, have asked to have the new 1930 car shipped to them in carload lots.

"The reduced prices on the new car contributed materially to the increased public interest shown this car, as did the mechanical improvements. The price reduction resulted directly from manufacturing economies effected by our record output in 1929, and our policy of passing on to the consuming public the savings effected by volume production are directly reflected in the low price of the new car.

"On the basis of present indications we expect the early months of this year to prove exceedingly satisfactory, and look to the year 1930 to compare very favorably with 1929 when he built 1,350,000 cars, a new high record."

Messages received by Mr. Klingler indicate that the national attendance the first day of the showing of the 1930 models, and the favorable comments of the public, exceeded even that which greeted the first appearance of the Chevrolet Six a year ago. Typical of many messages received by Mr. Klingler is one from the Los Angeles dealer organization: Reception of new car by public, dealers and salesmen best for last four years. All amazed at price reduction. Many thousands of people attended showrooms. Even greater attendance than last year when we first introduced the Chevrolet six."

Expressions of confidence that their sales for this year would exceed any previous year came from dealers in all parts of the country. At Great Falls, Mont., rural prospects drove to the showrooms in sleighs to see the car. Chicago wired: "We will require in our territory more cars for the next three months than we received last year same period."

Messages from big and little towns struck the same note. Clovis, N. Mex., registered 500 in the showrooms the first day out of a population of 7,500. Minneapolis reported the largest first-day crowd in ten years experience, and Baltimore the sale of 105 cars before 5:00 p. m.

"At no time has the financial future looked better," said the Paterson, N. J., dealer. "If there is such a thing as a one hundred per cent car I feel I have it." And from Seattle: "All dealers expect more business in January and February than last year."

NO BURIAL SERVICE

London—Directions left by Harold Begbie, the journalist, after his recent death, provided for an odd burial. The directions read: "I do not wish any religious service to be performed over my dead body, believing all such services, however well-intended, to be the relics of superstitious fear. I likewise desire that no stone, or monument of any kind, shall be erected over my ashes."

NEW SERVICE PLAN ANNOUNCED BY REO

Entails Purchase of Coupon Books for Every 10,000 Miles

"At least eighty per cent of all ills that occur in the operation of automobiles are caused either by lack of lubrication or lubrication that is faulty," according to Don C. Streeter, service manager of the Reo Motor Car Company, who announces a brand new service plan for Reo owners, designed to counteract this problem.

The plan as promulgated by Reo engineers after several years of intensive research and which is to be co-operative between the manufacturer, dealer and the car owner, is simple yet effective and covers every element of new car service on a proper and scientific basis, Streeter declares. The plan is known as the "Reo Protective Maintenance Record" and entails the purchase of a coupon book simultaneously with a new car. The book gives complete service and inspection coverage during its first 10,000 miles of operation. Another book may be purchased for the second 10,000 miles.

The cost of the service, like the purchase price of the car, may be paid in installments at the same time the monthly car payments are made.

"The plan, according to Streeter, "provides new car owners with the kind of service and inspection that not only prolongs the life of the car, but increases its operating efficiency as well. Nothing but the best tested lubricants are used and these only after rigid experimentation by factory engineers and the service department.

"As an incentive to have the car serviced every 1,000 miles, the plan provides for a rebate of ten per cent of the service price if the owner brings his car in for service within 150 miles of the specified mileage on the various coupons.

"Free service plans and many others that manufacturers have adopted in the past have not been successful in their missions," Streeter continues, "but Reo is hopeful that its new plan will come closer to this accomplishment than the others have, in the interest of increasing efficiency of new cars and prolonging their life."

It is expected that in the near future every Reo dealer will participate in the plan, in order that owners may receive a uniform service regardless of the location of their cars. Many of the dealers already have inaugurated it and others are preparing to do so as soon as possible.

FORD PRODUCTION BOOSTED SHARPLY

1,951,092 Cars and Trucks Are Manufactured Last Year

Detroit—The Ford Motor Company today authorized the following statement:

"World production of Ford cars and trucks for 1929 was 1,951,092. This is an increase of 1,132,358, or 138% over 1928.

"Of the 1929 production, 1,709,945 cars and trucks were produced in the United States, 87,796 by the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, and 153,351 in other foreign plants.

"The 1929 production of the Model A car, which was announced in December 1927, did not get in full swing until late in the year. On the other hand, production was curtailed in November and December 1929 to permit changes in plant equipment for the manufacture of the new Ford body types."

THREE NEW MODELS PRODUCED BY NASH

Newcomers Make Up the Motor Car Company's "400" Series for 1930

Kenosha—Three new and distinguished motor car models—finer, more luxurious and handsomer than any similar types produced in the past by the famous Nash quality and precision manufacturing plants—make their initial bow to American motorists this month, and take their places in the brilliant ensemble of cars that make up the Nash Motors Company's "400" Series for 1930.

The interesting newcomers, placed in production following the flood of orders and consequent heavy demands made on Nash production lines that came with announcement of the new Nash series in October, are led by a new type five-passenger Twin-Ignition Eight Victoria, which promises to be one of the most popular town models of the straight-eight group. The other two new cars now in production are the flashing Single Six Roadster and the unusually attractive Single Six Landaulet — both cars of pronounced charm and individuality.

The new Twin-Ignition Eight Victoria answers a pressing national demand for a compact, distinctive and easily handled style-car with an intimate but ample capacity for five people. Built on the long Nash Eight wheelbase, the new Victoria provides a full rear seat, which offers limousine comfort for three passengers. The driver's seat is deep, comfortable, form-fitting and firmly backed. Although the wide auxiliary seat folds over compactly to allow easy access to the car's interior, it is an exact counterpart of the driver's seat and returns to its position flush with the latter, forming a deep, standard front compartment of unmatched comfort and utility.

In the two new Singler Six models individual dress, comfort and charm is unescapable. The new Roadster—low, swift, graceful and alert—is designed for the delight of what wide-awake company of motorists who insist on youthful attractiveness in an automobile and who intend to stay youthful as long as they use motor cars. On a wheelbase of 11 1-2 inches powered with the famous Nash high compression, high turbulence, seven bearing motor, and replete with such costly car features as constant, automatic chassis lubrication, a domatic thermostatically controlled radiator shutters, shock absorbers, full machined crankshaft and drilled rods, genuine leather upholstery, folding windshield and like refinements is an outstanding leader in its price class.

The new Single Six Landaulet is equally a pace maker in its Nash pursuit of finer motoring elegance and motoring ease, at moderate cost. Big, roomy, impressive, and distinguished, it affords fine car performance and fine car luxury in every detail.

Special interest in the debut of the three new models is aroused as planned by Nash dealers in all parts of the country this month, demonstration of the many unusual qualities of the great new Nash Twin-Ignition Eight, which is said to be one of the most popular events of the season, according to officials of the Nash sales department.

VIKING EIGHT IN DEBUT AT SHOWS

Thousands of People Wondering What Kind of Car They Will Buy

Thousands of people now are deciding what automobile they will be driving during 1930, according to reports from Oldsmobile-Viking dealers throughout the country. The dealers, particularly those located in cities where automobile shows have been held report a keen interest by the public in the new automobile creations.

Although the greatest portion of the thickly populated sections of the country experiences unfavorable weather at this season and outdoor conditions do not encourage thoughts of motoring, the public is automobile minded, the Oldsmobile Viking dealers report. This is manifested in their attendance at the automobile shows and the interest they are displaying in the mechanical improvements and new body lines of the cars.

The refinements in design of the Oldsmobile have elicited much favorable comment, the dealers report. This is particularly true of the new bodies, which are more roomy and the most modern styling. In appearance the cars are lower and longer than heretofore.

The new fully enclosed, internal expanding four wheel brakes are have found favor, as have the new easy steering mechanism and other mechanical advancements incorporated in the 1930 Oldsmobile.

This year the Viking Eight is making its official debut at automobile shows, having been introduced too late last year to be displayed at these exhibits. It, like its companion, the Oldsmobile 6, reports to have attracted much attention. Particular interest is being shown in the several innovations in automobile design introduced by the Viking which include the first mono-block for a V-type eight cylinder engine, downdraft manifolding and new ideas in lubrication and cooling.

In view of the interest now being shown by the public in 1930 automobiles, Oldsmobile-Viking dealers are preparing for an excellent spring business. They are increasing their stocks so that they will be prepared to make prompt deliveries as the retail buying season opens.

The factories at Lansing, Mich., are working on large production schedule on both Oldsmobile Six and Viking eight to fill the dealers' requirements.

The Oldsmobile "6" and the Viking "8" are sold and serviced in Appleton by the Berry Motor Car Co., located at 742 West College-ave.

DODGE PRODUCTION MORE THAN DOUBLED

Industry Returning to Normal Stride, Officials Point Out

Detroit, Mich. — Substantial increases in production schedules for January were announced yesterday by Dodge Brothers. Orders placed by Dodge Brothers dealers at the recent convention in Detroit and the splendid reception the New Six and the new Eight received from the public at the New York Automobile Show, has made necessary an increase of 33 per cent in the original production schedule of the new low-priced Six, and an 83 per cent increase in the original production schedule of the eight cylinder models.

"These increased production schedules," said C. W. Matheson, the general sales manager, "bring to light the interesting fact that American industry apparently is returning to its no mal stride more rapidly than was anticipated in appraisals made prior to January 1 by business and industrial leaders in all parts of the country.

"In spite of these large increases the output for the month will still be insufficient to meet the demands" continued Mr. Matheson. "The reception that has been accorded Dodge Brothers New Six and New Eight wherever they have been shown has been enthusiastic beyond all expectations. The fact that these pronounced increases in production had to be made before the new cars were universally announced and displayed affords ample proof of the statement. In many sections of the country the new cars will not be shown to the public for another week or more.

"Apparently the heavy demand for these cars is due largely to their brilliant performance. Letters from dealers in every part of the country proclaiming the unusual power, economy, comfort and [illegible] of the new sixes and eights are pouring into the factory daily.

"In reentering the popular priced field where the outstanding reputation of Dodge Brothers was established, an enthusiastic market awaiting every [illegible] up to the new Six, the lowest priced closed car and the lowest priced six cylinder car Dodge Brothers has ever produced. MOTORISTS CAREFUL WHEN BUYING TIRES

In spite of the growing number of automobiles on the road, experts report that fewer tires are being sold in relation to the amount of driving done.

Putting the story in figures, we learn that where each car two years ago were 4 tires in [illegible] now needs but 2 new tires.

"One is that tires are being made better, but a more definite reason is that motorists are paying more attention to the tires they buy," says Mr. Scheurle, local distributor for Miller tires. "Motorists have found that the difference in price between an unknown tire and a nationally known make is only slight, while the difference in wearing qualities is generally considerable.

"Now that every state has its share of good roads so that motoring in all sections of the country is much the same, more and more tire business is going to firms with a known reputation for dependability and quality. Reflecting this Miller Geared-to-the-Road tires are becoming more and more popular."

AMERICANS IN HAITI

Senator Blaine, opposing a resolution authorizing an appropriation of $50,000 to defray the cost of an investigation of conditions in Haiti, denounced our occupation forces there as "a lot of carpetbaggers." This, of course, depends upon the point of view. We had never understood that the men who are compelled to do civic or military duty there find it a particularly pleasant experience. As for being carpetbaggers, there is nothing for them to exploit in their official capacity as representatives of the government of the United States. They are merely performing a service where duty has called them.

American policies among the Latin republics directly to the south of us have long been a subject for political assault. In the meantime, however, they have had the indorsement of a very large majority of the American people, and it may be stated with equal positiveness that they have operated for the benefit of the peoples whose interests they were intended to advance. Any person who has the slightest knowledge of conditions that existed in Haiti, San Domingo, Porto Rico or Cuba before American intervention knows that great and lasting betterment has been wrought. There may have been some derelictions of duty here and there or some incidents that would not reflect altogether in our favor, but the fact remains that in their essential phases our attempts to stabilize these republics politically and improve them socially and physically have been of the greatest value. If they represented militarism and conquest, that would be quite another matter. They were indispensable if these nations were to have proper intercourse with the rest of the world, without which they could not exist, much less progress. In this highly specialized and developed age in economic relations, nations can subsist and prosper and only with responsible governments and reasonable security and order.

It seems to us that those who criticize the occupation of Haiti ought to be the first to approve the investigation of this occupation. If there is anything wrong with it or if there is a status which recommends its termination, the best way is to ascertain the facts by investigation. But listen to this outburst of Senator Blaine: "It doesn't take an investigation to show that these carpetbaggers are spending the taxes wrung from the peasants to build roads so Americans can speed through the country in high-powered cars. The Haitian either walks or rides his little burro." So, too, the natives of Abyssinia or of Egypt and numerous other half-civilized countries ride a donkey or walk. Also in those countries there is filth everywhere, horrible diseases and the most primitive existence.

It is the first time we have heard from a person of consequence the statement that the construction of good roads, essential to trade and commerce on any important scale and to public health and sanitation, to say nothing of comfort and convenience, was detrimental to the welfare of any nation or any people. Improvement in sanitation alone in Haiti has been worth to the natives all that they have been deprived of temporarily in vain and useless political power. Nothing can be done in any of these countries toward modernizing and civilizing them without ways of communication and transportation. In the United States every isolated community without good roads and easy contact with the rest of the country is backward and poverty stricken.

It is the use of reckless and extreme statements like those attributed to Mr. Blaine that causes politicians who utter them to be regarded as unreliable and irresponsible. They do not hesitate to commit any affront to intelligence or fairness that will create prejudice and bitterness. Their judgments are snap judgments. Mr. Blaine's reference to road building and "high-powered cars" in Haiti is typical of this species of politics.

RELATIVE DISARMAMENT

The naval conference at London has opened with a statement by the heads of each of the five delegations outlining the national viewpoint as to defense requirements. The statements necessarily were general in character. No calculations or figures were used by any of the speakers. The principal difference between the American and the other viewpoints is that whereas the latter laid down the principle of absolute need, Secretary of State Stimson insisted that the need ought to be regarded as relative. On the hypothesis of absolute requirements, it is obvious that if each nation is to set up arbitrarily a fleet of a certain size and character as indispensable to national defense there could be no substantial and continuing disarmament. This matter appears to be the main issue of the conference.

Questions pertaining to battleships, cruisers and other types of warcraft, along with the desire of Japan, Italy and France to increase their proportionate strength, are collateral and ought to be disposed of in the end. The great problem is to convince England first and France second that a real reduction in armament will not comprise their security and that freedom of the seas and the protection of their colonial and home communications cannot disregard rights and strength of the other naval powers. France has raised the point whether a nation must depend solely on its navy and military forces for security or whether guarantees of collective action against a disturber of the peace are to supplement this security. It is an important question and involves the good faith of the signatories to the Kellogg-Briand treaty renouncing war, as well as the intention of the League of Nations. It is a singular fact that all of the American statesmen who have advocated international association for the maintenance of peace, including Roosevelt, Taft, Lodge and Root, favored some sort of an arrangement for coercive action against a nation responsible for war. This and other allied questions are perfectly proper for consideration by the London conference. Indeed, they are inseparable from the problem of disarmament.

The holding of closed sessions by the conferees was to be expected. Perfect frankness in the discussion of matters of the most intimate concern to the governments represented could be obtained only in this manner. It will give rise to gossip and irresponsible news stories and rumors, but they will have to be disregarded. All of the facts will ultimately come out just as they did at Geneva, and there will be open meetings of the fall conference. The public should await decisions and explanations without prejudice, and final judgment on its success or failure should be suspended until the conference adjourns.

A CHICAGO VERDICT

Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien, on trial as a conspirator with Howard Dorr for the murder of her husband, was found not guilty by a jury. This in the face of the fact that her husband was killed in her own home by her paramour whom she was shielding, and that if she had given her husband warning instead of deception after the first shot was fired by her concealed lover, his life would have been saved. When the first shot missed she explained it as a bursting electric light bulb. Although she knew he was about to be killed, she did not give him even a chance to escape.

There was no doubt whatever as to Mrs. O'Brien's guilt and her participation in the crime. It may be superfluous to add that this verdict was rendered by a Chicago jury. We have nearly reached the point in our social development where it is safer to sever the bonds of matrimony by murder than by divorce and of course it is much more expeditious, notwithstanding the courts in this one particular field move with great alacrity.

Today's Anniversary

VACCINATION

On Jan. 25, 1796, Edward Jenner, an English physician, discovered vaccination, a method of producing immunity against smallpox.

Although inoculations against the disease were made before this time, it was because of Jenner's investigations and experiments that vaccination was given a significant niche in medicine.

The word vaccination is derived from "vacca," Latin for cow, for it was a dairymaid who contracted cowpox that Jenner first extracted his vaccine. With a small dose of this poison, Jenner inoculated an eight-year-old boy in whom a typical case of cowpox, which is similar to smallpox, developed. But when the boy was subsequently inoculated with real smallpox germs, no ill effects resulted.

The theory on which Jenner made his discovery was that the mild cowpox poison set up resistance against smallpox because the body of a person inoculated manufactures a counter poison, known as an anti-body.

The first known use of vaccination in this country occurred in Boston when Dr. Zabdiel Boylston inoculated his son and two negroes in 1721, a year before the smallpox epidemic in that city.

EAT AND GROW YOUNG

All the flappers are pretty young.

All the flappers are dieting.

Therefore it should be obvious to anybody with a flapper mentality that dieting keeps one young.

Of course this is pure bunk, but I've got to get the reader's attention before I can drive an idea into the reader's head, and you simply can't get the attention of lay readers today unless you make 'em think you're going to give them some great secrets about dieting.

The dumbest layman is more or less hot and bothered about his diet nowadays. It is human nature, if not instinct, to ascribe most of the ills one has or imagines he has to the food or the way the food is juggled. Ever since Dr. Kidd issued almanacs the grand old public has been as morbid as any quack could wish about its digestion. Then here only a generation ago some great charlatan invented the autointoxication theory, and that fairly knocked 'em insensible, especially the intellectual suckers who go in more for drugless hokum which always comes in series, courses, terms, large packages and round figures. Finally, about the year knees and eyebrows came out, it began to look as tho the good old autointoxication game was doomed to expire; in fact certain sinister voices were raised ever and anon, demanding raucously how come there was not an iota of scientific or common sense evidence to support the autointoxication theory. So something had to be done, and so there came the great propaganda that imposed upon all the people of this innocent continent the stern duty of watching for the first indication of acidosis, and suppressing it instantly or even before it happened with . . . . . space left vacant for merchant to insert name of whatever he is overstocked with.

The poor saps who used to worry themselves gray over "autointoxication" now have "acidois" on the brain.

This acidosis craze is more difficult to control than was the autointoxication nonsense. Unfortunately acidosis can and does happen now and then in the course of a serious illness. It is in fact an effect or a feature of several disease conditions which need not be mentioned in a health column. So we can't call the well folk who have the acidosis obsession idiots and dismiss them and their thick coming fancies with a laugh. We have to explain the physiology of the subject to them, and that is very difficult because, as a noted comedian would say, they're so ignorant. Honestly, it is such a formidable task, this explaining, and so poorly paid, that few real doctors will do it. For that matter very few doctors can do it even if they're paid for it. Why, I've attempted it myself, and I'm not boasting about my success with it, so you may infer it's a difficult business.

However, they do have wonderful success in disseminating the acidosis obsession among well folk as propaganda headquarters. So effective is the propaganda that even doctors out there are sometimes afflicted. Not the poor doctors, not the hard subsidized to modulate customers, but regular doctors. For example, here comes Old Doctor . . . . . (To be continued in a subsequent issue.)

QUESTION AND ANSWERS
Hypothyroidism

Is it possible to overcome hypothyroidism? I am 26 years of age and understand that it will be necessary for me to take . . . . (H. C. H.)

Answer—It is necessary for you to take care. Hypothyroidism means insufficient production of the secretion of the thyroid gland, which is essential for good health. I advise you not to attempt self treatment, but leave the treatment to the direction of your physician. As a rule this condition can be overcome by treatment.

Practical Temperance

If we wish to make this country dry we must educate the people how to eat so they won't have any desire for alcohol. A person who eats too much and consequently has "indigestion" has a desire for alcohol and will sacrifice every thing to get it to relieve the distress or discomfort produced by gas. Do you share this point of view? (R. F. D.)

Answer—Not exactly that, but I agree that improper food, poorly cooked and unattractively served, contributes toward both alcohol and tobacco excess. For instance, I sincerely think that the terrible concoction that is served in the name of coffee in thousands of eating places and too many homes, leaves a man with a vague longing, which he is likely to try to gratify by resorting to alcohol or tobacco or both. That is why I have devoted so much space in this column for many years to the subject of coffee and its making. I believe poor cooking and the failure of the younger generation to study cooking seriously as part of a good education, is a factor in the intemperance rampant among the poorly educated youth today.

Water From Hot Water Faucet

Answer—If the water is pure and fit to drink when it enters the water heater, it is still perfectly fit to drink when you take it from the faucet, provided there is no lead pipe in the line. If there is lead pipe, I should not advise drinking water from the hot water side; the cold water would be all right if allowed to run a while before taking any to drink or cook with, say in the morning, in order to carry off any lead dissolved in the water that has stood in the lead pipe over night.

THAT SCHAFKOPFF CLUB

Editor Appleton Post-Crescent: I note with much interest a story that appeared in Wednesday's Post-Crescent concerning the Veterans, or Weinerwurst Schafkopf club. This club, of sturdy well balanced people, represents citizens from all walks of life, and any person that cares to indulge in a game of cards, accept his defeat with a smile, even though in anticipation of winning a 180 hand he is minus the Sneider, is considered eligible to become a member. The point that I wish to convey is embodied in the following paragraphs.

Now that my ability to do things has been exposed to the public and I am considered a competent and trusty manager, as a visit at the club headquarters will show, it is only fitting on my part that I become elated over prospects for the immediate future. For my part, I feel grateful for the privilege of meeting with a body of old timers. To them much credit is due, in making for the progress of active, attractive Appleton, the Fox River valley, and adjacent territory. No more orderly body of respected citizens can be found and if the entire population of the city of Appleton were as loyal to the city government and its requirements there would be no need of lawyers or judges, and the official police body would be a minus quantity.

In conclusion one may imagine that if from the little streamlets great rivers are made to flow, therefore much good may come from this little story that was recently published, not intentionally designed for any further purpose. But it is awakening and inspiring to be remembered as an able manager, and further, without a doubt, when a new body of city commissioners is elected their first choice for city manager will be in the person of W. M. Roblee.

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—Someone in the movie colony actually has a chinchilla coat. Edmund Lowe gave one of the expensive garments to his wife, Lilyan Tashman, as a Christmas present.

Miss Tashman, who frequently startles other women by wearing the ultimate in every new mode, and often sets styles, should glory in the new possession. Ermine cloaks here are almost as common as fish in the sea, but the wearer of a chinchilla runs little risk of meeting another so adorned at every street corner.

Flickerville has assumed a mantle of swanky dignity in its social life, for show purposes at least, which savors little of the good old days when.

Those days were not so long ago at that. They were gay and rather informal days: perhaps today they would be called a shade rowdy (usiness of lorgnette - lifting) when the camaraderie of a common profession held sway regardless of title and position.

A NEW MARK

The Embassy club, recently opened with much ado, marks another milestone on Hollywood's social climb from the time when movie stars found week-end diversion at the old Green Mill, along with whoever cared to come.

The Embassy, of course, now represents the last word in Cinema society, with membership limited to the chosen few of the profession, and attendance at its functions restricted formidably by an iron-clad "invitation only" rule.

OLD-TIME WHOOPEE

The Green Mill, if what I hear is true, was a gay and lusty place, where a boiled shirt, however desirable and admired, was not an absolute prerequisite to admittance. The site in Culver City now is occupied by a more or less entertaining night club.

In its progress toward the smart the ultra, Hollywood has forgottten also old Sunset Inn, once a favorite resort, and the Hollywood hotel, still standing as a respectable hostelry, scarcely suggests its former brilliance as a social center.

VOICE BEATS ORGANS

Baltimore— When it comes to a contest between mechanical and human voices, the latter has the former beaten. The tenor of Frank S. Walsh, for proof, has outlasted three organs and five choir masters at St. Lukes Episcopal Church here. He has been a chorister for 69 years.

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—It is hard for Uncle Sam's fighting men, after they have laid aside their swords and gone into retirement, to resist the temptation to take up the pen.

In the service departments in Washington there are any number of army and navy officers who have attempted to write a book or else have definite plans to start on one as soon as they are free of the routine that goes with their assignments.

Some have one or more books to their credit.

There's Admiral Hugh Rodman, for example, old sea dog now retired, who at one time was in command of the Pacific fleet. He has written a book based on his experiences at sea which was not only given a good reception in this country, but received also with much enthusiasm in England.

And Brigadier General James Parker, who as a cavalry officer is reputed to have had no superior in the army up to the time of his retirement in 1918, has written two books.

A WAR NOVEL

His first, "The Old Army," is a familiar volume in military circles. His second, just printed, is "Old Army Memories," which promises to be as well received as his first.

Nor are those in retirement the only ones who have clicked with a book, Major John N. Neely, member of the war plans division of the general staff and a member of the aeronautical board, is a good example.

Major Neely has just published the novel "War Breaks Down Doors" It is a cross section of army life at the front and at home, from a "San Antone" honky-tonk to Paris and back to the swanky Chevy Chase club in Washington.

Jan Siencowwiez is the hero. He is the son of a Polish coal miner in Pennsylvania—one of nine children. But Major Neely attempts to show in his novel that war breaks down doors, and so he has his principal character go into it as a lieutenant. He emerges as a major, a rich man and a skilled polo player.

President Hoover's military aide, Colonel Campell B. Hodges, is another army man in Washington who has a yen to write. Newspaper work appeals to the colonel tremendously.

Colonel Hodges was a member of the Vera Cruz expedition in 1914. When it looked as if the American troops were going to spend a Christmas on the Mexican border, the colonel and a brother officer conceived the idea of compiling a souvenir history of the expedition to sell the troops.

But before the little books returned from the printer, the troops had been ordered home, and the two were forced to buy most of the books themselves.

Take a large fowl or chicken; singe, draw and truss and put in a stewpan. Add eight ounces of chopped bacon and fry the bird lightly.

Scald and chop in small squares about a half pound of steaky bacon. Put it in stewpan with four small carrots and onions, season with salt add a teacupful of broth. Put the lid on the stewpan, stand it over a moderate fire, and finish braising.

Dish the chicken. Mix some cooked peas with the vegetables as a garnish, if desired.

Stir and mix an equal quantity of what sauce with the liquor, boil for a few minutes, strain, pour it over and serve.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

FOR a second after Judge Thornton made his remark that Sue was playing for too high stakes, she felt that the room had upset, like a child's toy-house. She could not believe that he had spoken to her. Yet he had told her, though tactfully, to be sure, that she was playing for Jack or Harry. A fortune-hunter!

Her cheeks flamed angrily and her eyes snapped.

"I'm sorry," she heard the suave, smooth voice going on. "I didn't mean to startle you, Miss Merryman. I wasn't intimating that you are trying to find a . . . husband." He hesitated over the word. "You took me wrong. I meant that the boys have taken you into their circle and it's rather an expensive one. That's all. But you have sense and discretion. That's why I don't want debts to appall you. You're above that."

His voice had the ring of sincerity and his eyes were worried. Sue was glad. That wasn't so bad, but she couldn't forget the first sting.

"I am not in debt," she answered in a low, full voice. "I don't owe anyone anything, Judge Thornton."

"Then . . . ?" He hesitated and waited.

"I just happened to need $25 at once, but it's perfectly all right. It doesn't happen to be for myself or I never would have requested it. Thank you for listening to me." Then her dimple flashed in spite of her anger. "And thank you, also, for the advice."

"Wait!" He waved a detaining hand. "Of course I'll lend you the money. I merely took the opportunity of . . . preaching."

"No, thank you. I can't take it now," Sue answered quickly. "I couldn't accept it."

"Certainly you will." He drew his check book to him. "We won't call it an advance on your salary. Just a loan from me. That puts it on a friendly basis, instead of a business one, and the rest of the office needn't know."

"No, thank you. I can't possibly!" There was a finality in Sue's voice that made the judge pause.

"I appreciate your position," he finally said. "I don't blame you, but now that it's all right, of course you'll take it. If you were the type of girl who asked constant advances, that would be a different story. But would you mind letting me know why you want it?"

"Not in the least, if it were for me, but it isn't. I can't discuss the reason. I'm sorry. And I honestly do thank you."

Judge Thornton had been writing while he talked and now he arose and handed a check to Sue.

She took the slip of paper and promptly tore it in two.

NEXT: Sue calls Sarah Slade.

News About New Books

Review by Eleanor Evans Wing

At Christmas time, one of the most amusing books was published that it has been our good fortune to read throughout the year. Molesta, by G. B. Stern, published by Alfred A. Knopf and distributed in the Philippine Islands by the Philippine Education company, belongs to that select little group of novels of Europe and its conventions which we have called sophisticated. There are very few of this ilk, in fact, few such books as the maximum number of this year has brought forth [illegible] and highest here in America [illegible] And the distinguishing [illegible] of them all in a matter of fact acceptance of Europe as it is, without [illegible] explanations, explanations, reformation or exaggeration. [illegible] is never to be found in [illegible] Europe written by Americans.

Mrs. Stern is an Englishwoman, wife of Geoffrey Lisle Holdsworth, an English journalist. Her early ambitions were for the stage and for two years she studied at the academy of dramatic arts in Geneva and Switzerland. At seventeen, however, when her first poem was accepted by the first editor to whom it was sent, she decided on a literary career. Six years later, shortly before the war she published [illegible] her first novel. Knopf has always been her publisher in America. Among the most well known of her writings are The Matriarch and [illegible]

Modesta is a skillfully [illegible] story of Italy and London. Later, Perry, romantically marries a pretty Italian peasant and suddenly finds himself with a fine lady for a wife. At first her unexpected airs amuse him, then they puzzle him, and at last he grows angry. Craftily highminded, he lures Modesta back to her native village away from his clever British mother, and there takes a revenge which is as unexpected as it is humorous and efficacious. The placid return to type of Modesta in her native village is an amusing and true transition of her kind, and Mrs. Stern has told of it with absolute adherence to the truisms of human nature. There are only three major characters—the very English mother in law, Laurie and Modesta and each is fitted into the mosaic of the whole with skill and color.

Laurie's mother is the finest type of Englishwoman, brilliant, charming, well-informed, and poised for anything. But she is very much bound up in her son, and wants to keep him tied to her apron strings. So she tries to spoil Modesta for Laurie, and the little peasant is like wax in her capable hands. The plot is an old time—but the personalities of the characters involved make it new as Mrs. Stern treats it. We recommend Modesta to your immediate attention first because it is amusing, and quick reading. But second, we recommend it because it is as true to human nature and as keen a portrayal of two personalities and their salient points as we can remember having read.

Don't miss Modesta.

DENY REPORT THAT MERCHANTS DIFFER OVER CHAIN FIGHT

No Dissention in Ranks So Far as He Knows, Says President

Marriage Annulled But There's No Ill Feeling

New York —(AP)— Annullment of the marriage of Dr. George Frederick Kunz, vice president of Tiffany and Company, and Mrs. Opal Giberson Kunz, was revealed today.

The former Mrs. Kunz, who is 30 years old, said annullment had been arranged and procured with complete amity between herself and Dr. Kunz, who is 73 years old.

Since the annullment which was decreed last fall, the couple have continued to reside in the doctor's home on Riverside drive.

"There was nothing unpleasant in the proceedings either on my part of Dr. Kunz's," she said. "We are very good friends and expect to remain so for a long, long time—the rest of our lives, I hope.

"I had my work to do. I am greatly interested in aviation, you know, and am frequently away from home on long cross country flights. This has made it impossible for me to be a good wife for any man.

"I am continuing to run Dr. Kunz's house and continue to be the family chauffeur. Yesterday morning I ran him downtown in the car and last evening I brought him home.

"We have managed to settle our little trouble without doing anything unpleasant or anything insulting to each other. The doctor and I both think it is about time that grown people found a way of adjusting their difficulties without acrimony. If more people could settle things in an amicable way, it would be a much better world.

"I think that Dr. Kunz is one of the finest men who ever lived, and I am inclined to think he believes I am rather fine myself."

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Kunz at Tarrytown was a social event seven years ago. She is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Biberson of St. Louis, and was graduated from Wellesley. Dr. Kunz is one of the world's authorities on gems.

Mrs. Kunz has been interested in aviation for the last year, obtaining a pilot's license in June, 1929. Shortly after obtaining her license she figured in a crash at Morris Plains, N. J., but escaped injury.

The annulment suit was brought at Nyack last fall by Mrs. Kunz and the annulment granted on Nov. 21. The papers in the case were sealed.

MARYLAND "MOON" HELPS TO SATISFY CAPITAL'S THIRST

But Dry Violations Probably Are Not Quite as Flagrant There

EDITOR'S NOTE: Maryland, with no state prohibition enforcement act, complicates the efforts of congressmen to make themselves behave. Lemuel F. Parton, special staff writer of the Post-Crescent who is visiting large American cities to get national "views and attitudes" against the background of the Wickersham report, finds the capital city just about like others in the matter of major and tailor inquities, with President Hoover's view of the "model city" still somewhat in the offing.)

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON

Washington—If a jug of Maryland rye, landing in Washington, should bear the label of the well known old English sauce, "made from the recipe of a gentleman in the county, it would be understood that the reference was to Prince George-co, Maryland.

It is from this adjoining county that dry palates are now being irrigated, and the legend persists that the amber distillation is the work of somewhat declasse or impoverished Maryland gentlemen, which seems to give it a hallmark of quality. At any rate, it rolls down the Marlboro pike and the southern Maryland pike in such quantities that, around Christmas it cost only $2.50 per gallon retail and bootleggers were complaining that if there wasn't a little more enforcement, competition would put the trade out of business.

NAB "GREEN HAT MAN"

The capitol police force, separate form the district force, is headed by the elderly and distinguished Captain Nash, who presides in a grand uniform, over a tiny office and his ninety tactful men. Captain Nash recalled that during the year 1929, his men had caught "the man with the green hat," bringing liquor into the senate office building. That seemed to constitute the most important business of the year, so far as liquor violations on the capitol grounds were concerned.

Captain Nash did not recall the name of the man thus taken, but later investigation showed that it was George L. Cassidy, and that he was indicted by the District of Columbia grand jury on Dec. 17 last for liquor law violations.

President Hoover has announced his ambition to make Washington "the model of city law enforcement in the nation." Leo A. Rover, United States attorney for the district, has made progress in this direction and announces the enthusiastic cooperation of the grand jury, but even the hurried, surface view shows a lot of work still to be done.

Today's announcement that the Washington real estate board will report liquor law violations to the district attorney may have the effect of snuffing out a few stills and home brew plants, but it will hardly stop the inflow of that Maryland rye.

SOME CONGRESSMEN DRINK

There have been hard words exchanged on the floor of congress, and in public discussion generally, and only in these senatorial interchanges does one find an official admission that some lawmakers occasionally drink liquor.

"There are some senators and some representatives who drink," said Senator Jones, of Washington, author of the Jones law, in a radio address, later incorporated in the congressional record. "I regret it. They and those who hold office and have taken a special obligation to obey and maintain the constitution and the laws of the land should do so.

"Their failure, however, does not excuse any citizen from violating the laws of the country. In my judgment, far fewer number of senators and representatives drink more now than 20 or 30 years ago. I have seen far fewer senators under the influence of liquor during the last 10 years than I did the preceding 10 years. They will get fewer and fewer as the years go by. I have received many letters of late asking if congressmen are exempt from the laws to enforce prohibition. Of course not. No exceptions whatever are made in the law."

The records of Mr. Rover's office show that of 281 indictments returned by the 1929 grand jury, fifty nine charged violations of the liquor laws, including the case of Representative E. E. Denison of Illinois, a bone-dry Republican, whose leaky suitcase led to an investigation. While the above indictments showed a sharp increase over the totals of previous years, records of the disteady and unbroken increase in arrests for liquor law violations, marking the first ten years of prohibition.

In 1920 there were 854 arrests for violations of the Volstead act. In 1929 these arrests totalled 5,217, an increase of 4,863, or nearly fifteenfold over the total of ten years ago. Arrests for violations of the Sheppard law, directed against intoxication and drinking in public, were 3,717 in 1920 and 14,056 in 1929, an increase of 10,339.

With regard to law breaking in general, police statistics show that arrests in the capital have more than doubled in the last ten years. The cost of operating the police department has been increased by $1,759,000 annually, police court fines are nearly twice as great, there are about three times as many prisoners in the district jails and the police force has been increased by 550 men.

Population has increased by about 100,000 in the district during the ten year period and this, obviously, would account for a portion of the increase in arrests. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1929, there were 121,577 arrests, but of these 57,400 were for violations of traffic laws, as compared with 16,898 arrests for the same cause in the corresponding period of ten years before.

Felonies and misdemeanors, such as petit larceny and disorderly conduct, all showed a marked increase, but there is no evidence by which to measure the share of the prohibition law in these trends. On the whole, the district record of ten years of law enforcement indicates that the capital's behavior was rather better than that of the average American city of this size during the same period.

Organized gambling has unquestionably been lessened and Washington is singularly free from racketeering enterprises, which have had their growth elsewhere during the last decade. There has been some incipient straw hail graft, but this has ont been comparable to its development in other cities.

Well to do persons still obtain and serve good liquor in Washington.

There are plenty of speakeasies where a stranger can find a drink without much delay or difficulty. Maryland rye is distributed extensively through "office" organizations, and the more discriminating drinkers get it through these channels, rather than through speakeasies. Liquor is banned at official or even semi-official functions, but to even the casual view, neither official or social pressure has yet been sufficient greatly to change drinking habits in the shadow of the capitol dome.

PAYS $25 FOR RIGHT TO WASH ELEPHANTS STAYING IN HOTEL

Milwaukee—(AP)—Walter Glasnapp of Thiensville, Wis., tried to gain fame in the theatrical business. At the Northwestern station he met a dapper stranger who told him how to do big things in a big way—namely, wash elephants as a stepping-stone to higher things.

They signed a contract —Walter and "Eddie Schuman, promoter." Walter was to have full charge, including cleaning privileges, of an elephant act playing at a downtown theatre. For this, he paid Eddie $25.

The next-to-closing-spot was ended, Walter turned to the final act.

A policeman wondered why he had been standing for so many hours on the curb across from the Schroeder hotel.

"Believe it or not," said Walter, "but I'm waiting for the elephants." He went on to explain but Eddie told him to wait until they brought the pachyderms out of the Schroeder, where they were stopping.

was natural to find the January meeting of the chief executives of industry declaring that the situation is well in hand.

As a matter of fact the same kind of an estimate was not possible in December because all the facts were not then available and also there was no means of comparing with preceding months.

Now, however, the data on December shows that in many lines the variation from the year before is not sufficient to cause any real uneasiness. The fact that a depression began last autumn after the stock market crash and that the psychology of hesitation which set in did more damage probably than the decline in securities is now beginning to be referred to as a curious phenomenon of the October break.

What is significant now is that businessmen except the curve to rise steadily and that the curative process has set in so intensively that no stimulus of an artificial character is any longer advocated. The tone is one of cheerfulness, for it is felt the country has sufficient wealth and credit capacity to weather the disturbance it encountered last autumn.

New York—Federal Judge Bondy has under consideration a motion to strike from the list of jurors the name of John Harriman, cousin of the late E. H. Harriman and nephew of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. Examined as a talesman in a Jones law prosecution Harriman said he would not vote for conviction in a liquor case. Assistant Federal Attorney Watts moved that Harriman be adjudged unfitted for jury duty.

Darmouth, N. H.—The boys at Dartmouth are inclined to think an inquiry to them should have gone to Harvard. The editor of the university of Kansas year book sent the Darmouth Delta Kappa Epsilon two dozen pictures of Kansas coeds, asking that the year book's queen be chosen by an eastern college with the reputation of being rich and exclusive with a country club atmosphere. The Dartmouth boys obliged, however. They feel that as judges of beauty they are unsurpassed.

CLINTONVILLE IS DEFEATED 26-19 BY NEW LONDON QUINT

Game Is Marred by Many Fouls — Victors Always Hold Upper Hand

New London — The high school basketball team boosted its standings one notch higher Friday night, beating Clintonville 26 to 19. Referee Mc Call of Clintonville had his hands full handling the game. New London had 25 fouls called while Clintonville had 12. The game was witnessed by one of the largest crowds in many years.

"Chuckey" Pfeifer was high scorer with five baskets and several free throws. However, the nice floor work of Raby and Dernbach, Westphal and Burton gave Chuckie three easy shots. His other two were real throws, one being a backhanded heave. Each of the other four players had a basket to their credit.

Kolste's boys certainly put up one of the prettiest five-man defense and offense performances seen on the floor for a long time. Their guarding was so good that they held Clintonville to two baskets in the first half and three in the second.

On the other hand, Clintonville's team was in action every minute. Finch, Gritzinger, Schmidt, Monte and Shepherd gave the fans plenty to worry about. Gritzinger and Finch were the outstanding visiting players. Clintonville free throwing was way off form, as the Black and Orange squad missed 17 out of 29 tries. Pfeifer, Burton and Westphal were sent to the showers ahead of the other boys, going out on fouls. The score at the quarter was 8 to 4, and the half ended 11 to 0 with New London leading. Clintonville led only at one point of the game, and then by a two-point margin, which was broken when Vernie Burton sank a long shot from past the center of the floor. The third quarter ended with a 18-15.

Medicine Ball Is Medicine Enough; Perspire Freely, Thinks Jac Auer

BY JAC AUER
Written for NEA Service

Gentle exercise alone will not enable women to round the 1930 curves, if they have accumulated fat.

It is necessary to start with gentle exercise until the muscles are limbering up, the body toned up and the fat somewhat loosened. At this juncture, the best and most efficacious way of reducing is to inject a little hard exercise that works out the body.

I often have made the statement that for health reasons, everyone should do enough hard work to perspire freely at least twice a week. Perspiring cleanses the pores and sends the blood coursing through the body in a stimulating way. "Sweating out" in an electrical bath cannot possibly do the same good that good hard work does.

Throwing the medicine ball is the first form of strenuous exercise I suggest for reducing. Once you get used to it, you will enjoy it tremendously. The first work with the medicine ball should be done in the following way:

1. Sit on the floor with a pillow behind you, when you start. Place your feet apart so that you can sit firmly.

2. Have someone throw the medicine ball to you so that you can catch it above your head.

3. Catch it and go on over backwards with it until you are flat on the floor.

4. Without changing the position of your arms (straight out over your head, holding the ball), sit up, keeping your leg position, and as you rise, throw the ball just before coming to upright position.

This exercise is a marvelous abdominal reducer. It also takes the fat off arms and across the shoulders and strengthens all of the muscles, through the neck and back. It is one of the most zestful exercises one can do and one that you will thoroughly enjoy when you get used to it.

Do not overdo at first. For this is strenuous. But, beginning with a couple or three time daily, work until you can repeat 10 or 12 times, always throwing the ball just as you come back to upright position.

TOMORROW — The medicine ball kick, for reducing abdomen and thighs.

ARRANGE PLANS FOR EQUITY CONVENTION

Cicero Group Plans to Hold Event at New London Theatre Next Week

Special to Post-Crescent

Cicero—The annual county equity convention will be held at the Grand theatre, New London, at 9:30 on Wednesday. Those from here who plan to attend are Herman Gagnow, county secretary, and the following delegates: Vernal Thomas, Oscar Gagnow, Richard Burmeister and George Tubbs.

An outstanding purebred Percheron stallion, Black Cloud, No. 1546 was purchased from the Holbert Horse Importing Co. of Greeley, Iowa, by the Cicero Colt club. This club is composed of the leading farmers in and about the town of Cicero. The officers of this club are Emil Mueller, president; Henry Roepcke, vice president; George Tubbs, secretary and treasurer; directors: Herman Mos, Peter Rudie and Robert Gosse.

The object is to improve the breeding industry of heavy draft horses to get colts that will bring ready sale and right prices. To this end, Chris Sedo, a horseman for many years, was chosen to select the horse for this colt club. Black Cloud was his choice from one hundred head of stallions shown him at the Greeley barns.

Post-Crescent Races To Start At 1 O'Clock Sunday

CLASS OF VALLEY SKATERS COMPETE IN ANNUAL DERBY

Ice Carnival Begins Early so Fans May Watch Hockey Game Later

THE eighth annual Post-Crescent skating races for speedsters living within the circulation area of the paper will be held beginning at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the Jones park rink. The races are being started a half hour earlier this year because of the hockey game scheduled to follow the speed events and because several hockey players will be race officials.

A field of 50 skaters has entered the various races and because the entry list reveals most of the best skaters in the valley, indications are all of the 20 or 21 races will be fast and thrilling. It appears characteristic of all the races that the best talent in the valley is entered.

Appleton is not the only city to have skaters entered this year and perhaps before the afternoon's event is over several medals and other prizes may be going to Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Little Chute or New London. All of the towns named will have representatives in the races.

Numbers will be given skaters again this year, the list appearing in another column. Skaters may obtain the numerals before start of the various races Sunday although it is hoped they will have them as soon as possible so there will be no delay in getting things started.

The list of races and persons entered in each also are shown in another column on the sport page. Skaters will do well if they clip the program and prepare themselves for the various races as the one or two previous to their pet event are run off. The schedule will be strictly adhered to and cooperation of skaters in getting things started will save considerable time.

A capable group of officials again will handle the meet. John Roach will start the skaters on their way after Coach Joseph Shields of the high school calls them together. Other officials will be members of the Post-Crescent force and all have had several years experience at the jobs.

There will be no counter attractions until after the races. Believing that skaters and spectators alike want to see the events run off as fast as possible, and because of the hockey game, just races have been scheduled this winter. After the races the fans are invited to wander back to the hockey rink and watch the Appleton Blue Streaks battle New London.

Although the weather has been mighty cold during the last week skaters have been limbering up a bit and indications are there will be good ice. However, the folks are hoping for a rise in temperature of a few degrees, just enough to make it a bit more comfortable.

Spectators this year will have the advantage of standing along the top of Lawrence-st fill now that the bridge has passed. Those who wander down into the park are asked to keep off the ice so that skaters will not be interfered with.

And that's that. Remember, 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon with junior and intermediate boys in the first events.

GOPHERS, BUCKS BATTLE TONIGHT

Big 10 Cage Leaders Rest While Underdogs Play Two Games

Chicago —(AP)—Leading teams in the Western conference basketball championship campaign will rest tonight while the underdogs do something toward a temporary settlement of the last place situation.

The three teams still without a victory in conference competition—Minnesota, Ohio State and Chicago—all will be in action, with the Gophers and Buckeyes battling at Columbus, O. The other contest will be the first installment of the season of Chicago's civil war, when Northwestern invades Patten gymnasium to meet Chicago.

The Minnesota-Ohio State contest appeared to be a tossup, while Northwestern, although erratic, seemed too strong for Chicago's luckless five. Ohio State will face Minnesota with a revised lineup, due to injuries and illness. Minnesota will be at full strength for the test and was hopeful of breaking into the victory column.

Chicago, crippled by the loss of Sid Yates, its high scoring forward, may lineup against a reorganized Northwestern five. A week of work has not convinced coach Dutch Lonberg that Captain Rut Walters is playing his best basketball and the Wildcat star may watch the contest. If Walter is out, Rus Bergherm will go to the center, with Lockhart and Riel at forwards. McCarnes and Mundy work in the guard positions under the shift.

LOYOLA FIVE DEFEATS BUTLER BULLDOGS, 22-14

Chicago — (AP) — Loyola university's basketball squad today returned to Chicago bearing a record of 34 consecutive victories, a collection started during the 1928 season.

The most prized scalp on the string was taken last night when the Ramblers defeated Butler's Bulldogs at Indianapolis, 22 to 14. It was Butler that administered the last defeat suffered by Loyola, a beating that wrecked another promising victory string.

Loyola, which defeated Dayton university and St. Xavier, in addition to Butler, during its three-day trip, will be idle until it meets its toughest foe, Purdue, at Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 31.

VINCE DUNDEE IS BEATEN BY FIELDS

Welterweight Champ Has Baltimore Fighter in Bad Way Several Times

Chicago—(AP)—The Dundee family of Baltimore will receive no more professional attention from Jackie Fields (born Jakie Finkelstein), welterweight champion of the world.

Fields last night in the Chicago Stadium, accomplished his fourth and most convincing victory over Vince, the younger of the Dundees of Baltimore, and having won his title from Joe, the elder, believes that five beatings should convince any family.

Vince had given Fields vigorous competition on three previous occasions, but last night came within a whisker of being knockout. After the second round of their 10-round engagement Dundee took a terrific leathering. He was knocked down four times in the third round, and was in distress later in the fight. He went down under Fields' vacious attack twice for the count of eight, one for nine, and was on the floor for the fourth time when the bell ended the third round. He made a game stand, and in the final round, used everything he had left, but was a decisively beaten fighter.

The show drew 8,000 customers who paid in $25,000—just a little more than enough to pay expenses—a disappointing turnout considering their last meeting in Chicago several months ago, which was a hair-raiser.

MALONEY BEATS ARMAND EMANUEL

Boston —(AP)— The slugging onslaught of Jimmy Maloney, Boston heavyweight, upset Armand Emanuel of Los Angeles in short order last night, giving him a knockout early in the second round.

The fatal blow was a left hook to the stomach, which brought claims of foul from Emanuel and his seconds. Referee Jack Sheehan counted him out without hesitation and boxing commissioner Eugene Buckley said the blow was landed cleanly.

Emanuel was taken to a hospital but Dr. Bernard Devine said the boxer could leave the hospital "at any time."

Emanuel, who weighed in at 182 pounds to 199 for Maloney, had a slight lead on points at the end of the first round. It was Maloney's twenty-first victory in a home ring.

Shipbuilders Eke Out 12 and 11 Victory in Overtime Period

APPLETON high school basketball team had all its luck a week ago when the Orange played Neenah up in Lawrence gym and for the quintet to have the same amount of luck again Friday night while battling Manitowoc was highly improbable. That, perhaps, is the reason the Orange dropped another conference game by a 12 and 11, score, with Manitowoc the victors.

Like last week's game, Friday's battle went an overtime period, the Shipbuilders eking out their victory when Kohls broke away from the Appleton five and racing down the floor took a pass from one of his teammates and dropped the deather through the hoop. Norbert Berg, one of the Appleton captains had a chance to tie the game a few minutes later when he was given two free throws and made only one.

Although Appleton missed a greater percentage of its free tosses, perhaps its right the Shipbuilders won Friday. They had terrible luck trying to sink field goals and time after time drove in under the hoop and saw the ball roll every where except in.

The first half the battle was dull and slow as were the third and most of the fourth quarters. The first quarter ended 4 and 2 for Appleton as the Orange got a field goal and two free throws and Manitowoc registered but two gift shots. The half saw the score at 5 and 2, Appleton getting just one more gift shot and Manitowoc nothing.

Going into the last period, Appleton tied the count with a free throw. Then Brey tallied a field goal for Manitowoc and Appleton evened the score a minute later. Gailbraith took matters into his hands and sunk a basket to put the Ships out in front 10 and 8, and with the Appleton crowd screeching and crying for at least a tie, Norbert Berg looped a field goal and the score was ten all less than a minute before the end of the game. And then Manitowoc won in the overtime as has been recounted.

The Appleton team won the first three games, 15-9, 15-10, and 15-7 and then dropped the fourth game 12-15 and won the last 15-1. Members of the Appleton team were Eugene Wright, Fred Schlintz, Ted Xistris, Alva Carter, John Bartman and C. C. Bailey.

BADGERS TRACKSTERS WOULD MEET MISSOURI

Madison —(AP)— With the university of Wisconsin's contemplated track meet with the university of California probably off because of inability to arrange a date, Coach Tom Jones of the Badgers announced today he is attempting to schedule a meeting with the university of Missouri.

Coach Jones seeks April 12 as the date for the meet, which would be held at Columbia, Mo. He plans to present the proposal to the university athletic council, and then initiate arrangements for the event.

The Badger coach expressed the opinion that the Missouri climate would be an excellent link in changing from the indoor to outdoor track season.

Bush Believes He Has Star In Smead Jolley

BY FRANCIS .. POWERS
Copyright 1930

CHICAGO—Donie Bush, the Chicago White Sox' new manager thinks he has a new shining star in Smead Jolley, his new outfield recruit from San Francisco.

"He's a hitter," declares Bush. "I have seen him perform and know that he can slam any sort of pitching. Usually I don't talk much about a ball player until he proves himself in the majors, but if Earl Averill of Cleveland and Roy Johnson, of Detroit, can hit better than .324 in the American league, I know Jolley can do as well and perhaps better.

"They're saying that Jolley is not a good fielder. But he isn't the worst in the world. He has one of the greatest arms in baseball and a sure pair of hands. He can come around.

"Neither was Averill a great outfielder in the Pacific coast league but Rog Peckinpaugh made one of the fielding sharks of the American league last summer. During spring training Peck would hit fungoes to Averill by the hour. The boy was ambitious and quickly became a sure judge of fly balls. I think we can do the same thing for Jolley with the same recipe."

The new Sox recruit is ambitious to outplay Averill and Johnson, his team mates on the seals who preceed, formed the greatest single outfield the Pacific Coast league had known. During the 1928 campaign one of the three hit a home run every day for more than thirty-five consecutive days.

When Billy Evans, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, went west in the fall of 1928 he offered the San Francisco owners $150,000 for their outfield intact. When he failed to make that deal, he purchased Averill. Detroit then took Johnson and now the Sox have Jolley. The Seals netted $90, by selling the players separately than if they had taken Evans ... for.

These three young outfielders will add a lot of color to the 1930 American league race. Johnson is one of the fastest men in the big show and will develop into a greater hitter than in 1929. Averill is a fine, stylish hitter and one of the best center fielders since Tris Speaker faded Jolley now will attempt to catch the fans' fancy with his mighty sluggish and Bush is certain he will succeed.

The Sox manager hopes to land his team in fifth place this coming season. He will have a good outfield in Jolley, Reynolds, Hofman and Watwood; a strong infield in Shires, Hunnefield, Cissell and Kamm and some capable pitching by Lyons, Thomas, Faber, Henry and McKain. If Vic Fraser, purchased from Dallas, lives up to advance notices the Sox pitching staff may be one of the best in the league. Chicago admittedly is weak behind the bat but if the rest of the team performs Bush expects to get by one season with the receivers at his command.

Donie is a hustler and his one demand is for the players to keep on their toes.

MILLER CORDS MEET MINNEAPOLIS FIVE

Soo Line Quint Will Invade Armory G for Tuesday Evening's Feature

The next professional basketball game in Appleton will be played Tuesday evening with the Miller Cords battling the Soo Line team from Minneapolis. The railroad five has run roughshod over almost every and any team in the Northwest, according to the dope and has lot only two games, both to the same team.

The Miller Cords have annexed two wins in the last week beating the Neenah Jersild Knits and the Fond du Lac Cardinals on successive nights. They therefore feel they have hit a stride that ought to continue at least a few more games and look for a win over the invaders. The usual Cord lineup will be the field for Tuesday's battle.

GREEN BAY CAGERS WIN AND LOSE FRIDAY

Green Bay—(AP)—Green Bay's two high school basketball teams observed the law of balances Friday night, east losing to Oshkosh, 15-7 while West won from Sheboygan 5 to 9. Both games were in the Fox River Valley conference.

Game Will Be Played on Jones Park Rink After Skating Races

APPLETON'S contribution to the greatest of all winter sports, hockey, will take the ice Sunday afternoon down on the Jones park rink with New London as opponent. The game is the second this season for the Appleton team, the first having also been with the Wolf river sextet and resulting in a victory for the locals. The Appleton team is called the Blue Streaks.

The best hockey talent in the city has been gotten together to make up the Blue Streaks and their exhibition last week shows the team to be the best here in a long while. Last Sunday they had the rubber in front of the New London net continually and only a little hard luck kept them from running up a higher score.

New London players have been putting in considerable work for their invasion Sunday. They have hopes of bumping off the Appleton six and would like nothing better than to accomplish the trick in front of Appleton fans.

Members of the Appleton team in last week's game were Eddie Helms and Joseph Shields, right wings; Percy Sharp and Kiley, left wings; Ducky Schultz and Joe Shields, centers; Nolan, Rooney and Clem Kitzinger, defense men and Prasher, goalie.

The Blue Streaks were organized several weeks ago and are being managed by John Roach. They have hopes of playing all the valley teams before the winter is over and with the local rink extended to regulation size and boarded up will bring opponents to Appleton if fans support the sport.

PETERSON LOSES TO CARNERA BY FIRST ROUND K. O.

Italian Mammoth Has Easy Time; Exhibition Fails to Impress, However

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK —(AP)— Whatever else may be said about the American debut of Primo Carnera, biggest of all the heavyweights, it ranks distinctly as the greatest social and artistic success of the winter, regardless of what happens beneath the palms of Miami.

Without a hitch in any feature of the arrangements, the ballyhoo or his own showmanship, the 269 pound Italian giant knocked out Big Boy Peterson in exactly one minute and ten seconds of the main act in Madison Square Garden last evening. An appreciative, capacity crowd of 18,000 roared like a lot a small boys at a circus as the big, barrel-chested Carnera handled the blonde Scandinavian as though his 269 pounds were a mere featherweight.

Carnera displayed amazing speed and agility for his tremendous size. He also exhibited a wide range of punches in the brief period of action but he could not fail to look impressive against an opponent who was knocked down four times for counts of three, eight, four and ten from an assortment of left hooks and right uppercuts. He took the final count while on his haunches, shaking his head like a shaggy dog and pawing at his chin. He was lugged to his corner without giving any indication he knew exactly what had happened. Big Boy remained seated for fully three minutes after the fight under the frenzied ministration of his seconds, who could not have been more impressive if they had rehearsed their part.

At no moment of the proceedings did Peterson make any menacing gestures toward his huge, dark-haired opponent. Twice Big Boy waved his left hand in the general direction of Carnera but he was back pedalling so fast at the time that it took only a light tap on the side of the head to send him sprawling to the floor for the first time. Thereafter, Peterson spent most of his time on the floor, blinking. All told he spent 25 of the 70 seconds that the "fight" lasted declining on the canvas in a variety of poses.

CARNERA A GOOD CLOWN

From first to last, Carnera manifested ability as a clown and showman. He had the crowd bellowing as he popped in, attired in green jersey and sporty green cap, waving to the fans in general, shaking hands with those within reach and backslapping those who clambered within the ropes, with a grin as proportionately wide as his shoulders. Primo clapped a reassuring hand even upon Big Boy when they gathered to get their instructions but at the tap of the bell he shifted to a glowering glare as he glided from his corner. Given a stone-axe, Carnera would have needed no further equipment to be a complete throwback to the Neanderthal age. After disposing of the brief business in hand in the somewhat bored manner of a man who had other and more important things on his mind, the Italian again was all smiles as he acknowledged the roars of applause. To show he was a stranger in these fistic parts, however, he went so far as to take the liberty of hugging the veteran announcer, Joe Humphries.

To sum up the Carnera case for the moment, one of the keenest of boxing men remarked: "He looked very good, very fast but of course—I would like to see him in there with a fighter."

As far as actual fighting was concerned, the customers got a much better run for the money in the semi-final in which Larry Johnson, crack Chicago Negro light heavyweight, scores his fifteenth successive knockout at the expense of Fred Lenhart, Spokane, Wash., a rough and ready customer. Johnson knocked the far westerner down four times before he put over the finishing blow after two minutes, five seconds of the seventh round of what was to have been a ten-round bout.

Add Warren, of Chapl Hill, N. C., gave Ora Buck Weaver, Medicine Lodge, Kas., heavyweight, a thorough trouncing in the first ten rounder.

Phil Scott, British heavyweight who is to meet Jack Sharkey at Miami, Feb. 27, was introduced from the ring just before the big fight and got a loud chorus of boos for his pains. The customers evidently remembered Scott's last previous appearance at the Garden when he won a much-disputed foul by Otto von Porat.

CARNERA AT CHICAGO

Chicago — (AP) — Primo Canera, Italy's massive heavyweight, who made his American debut by spending less than one round in knocking out Big Boy Peterson at New York last night, will make his first western appearance Jan. 31 at the Chicago stadium. He will meet Elzear Rioux, Canadian heavyweight champion in a 10-round engagement.

King Tut, rough Milwaukee lightweight, and Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle, N. Y., Negro, who fought to an official draw verdict in Chicago several weeks ago, have been matched for a 10-rounder on the same card.

NEW RADIO TUBE, PUT OUT IN EAST, STIRS INDUSTRY

Improvement Will Eliminate Multi-tube Receiver, It Is Reported

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930 by Cons. Press

Washington—Word of the development of a new five-element or double screen-grid tube, which, it is claimed, presages another readjustment of receiving set manufacture in favor of the listener, is causing considerable stir in radio circles.

The new tube, according to manufacturers, will eliminate the multi-tube receiver, and lower manufacturing costs of sets and maintenance costs for set owners. By causing a downward trend in general radio overheard, it is predicted that the radio merchandise market will be greatly enlarged by the increase in purchases.

Coming, as it does, just as the new year begins, the pentode tube is hailed as the greatest advance in radio since the original vacuum tube was perfected nearly a quarter of a century ago. The tube, which is not yet available commercially, was developed in the laboratories of the Ceco Manufacturing company, of Providence, R. I.

The new tube is offered as the logical successor to the screen-grid tube, which was boomed by the industry as radio's 1929 contribution to improvement in reception. But the screen-grid, although it made possible vastly improved reception, as yet has not reached the heights claimed for it. The screen-grid is a four element tube.

Ernest Kauer, president of Ceco, says the new pentode is three times as powerful as the screen grid and unlike the latter, can be used to its maximum efficiency.

The advent of the pentode should have little effect upon the $70,000,000 radio tube industry, according to the manufacturer.

"It will mean less tubes per family, but a gerat many more families will own receivers," he declares. "The probabilities are that tube sales would be greater than ever."

If deemed feasible by the manufacturers, the pentode will be employed in new designs of sets for the oncoming season.

Radio engineers who have not yet had occasion to examine the tube, say it appears practicable "on paper." But in radio, they pointed out, it is the practical test that counts.

Talks To Parents

THE BOY NEXT DOOR
BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

The big boy who had just come to live next door had elected himself to play with my little girl.

In the 10 minutes since he had joined her at the sandpile he had thrown all her celluloid animals into the bushes and broken her sand strainer. When I arrived, Patsy was shedding helpless tears and the big strange boy looked both guilty and defensive.

"What did you break it for?" I asked him.

"Dunno," he said with downcast eyes. "Just broke it, that's all."

"Too bad, isn't it? Now we can't strain any more sand for sand pies." And I looked sorrowfully at the broken toy.

"Give it to me," he said with a sudden change in manner. "I can fix it."

"I don't think you can. It's really broken. I guess we'll just have to throw it away. But maybe you could help find those animals you threw into the bushes. Do you think you could?"

"Sure, I'll get them." And he went off.

A half hour later I looked out of the window to see the children playing peacefully together.

When it seems necessary to intervene in the difficulties of children's play, it is well to do so as constructively as possible.

The establishment of feelings of good will and cooperativeness will do more for happy play than visiting censure upon any child, no matter how destructive he has been.

As long as the discrepancy between your child and the little neighbor who has come to play with him is not so great that it is fairly impossible for them to find a common ground, it is worth while interfering when it seems necessary in the interests of sociability.

Your own child will benefit by your tactful handling of his neighbor.

DRY ENFORCEMENT PROGRAM STILL IS APT TO BE BEATEN

Sincerity of Congress Will Be Tested on Administration's Proposals

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—Such sincerity as there may be in congress is about to be tested in its action on the administration's new prohibition enforcement program.

Up to the time the program was presented by the president to the National Congress it was how observance and enforcement the attorney general and the secretary of the treasury, every member of congress and every public speaker on the subject, that any such proposal would be presented. It would be made into law as soon as congress could get it through. The dry majority in both houses was so sure of that it is a question in Washington that the drys can lose anything they want.

PROGRAM MAY FAIL

And yet, on Capitol Hill one senses a feeling of acute doubt as to whether much of the administration's program of enforcement measures will be put through this session of congress. What the anti-prohibition majority, including many of the members from the big cities, fear is that the program will be put through and then the country will settle down to watch and see what effect it has upon booze.

But after all the most urgent of public questions today is some of the most important Anti-Saloon League men in congress themselves are seriously of the opinion that legislative action will be taken on prohibition in the near future.

The Shipstead and the Tydings amendments and the Jones law have proved a whetting and the house is not very much. The government has spent 10 years proving that prohibition can be enforced as well as other laws only by extreme, and drastic measures. There are those who think that these measures before congress are very far from sufficiently drastic. Bishop Cannon has suggested a $200,000,000 appropriation and Dr. Clarence True Wilson of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals recently favored use of the army and the navy to enforce the law. But there you have congress shying away even from a few changes in administration detail and court procedure.

The important angle is that even some of the most enthusiastic drys are openly objecting to the merits of the proposals, especially in the senate. The commission's recommendations for the trying of many violations before the United States commissioners has come in for especially hard knocks, with much worry about the danger of limiting the right for trial by jury. But this proposal is of great importance, for Commissioner Doran himself has said that it won't do any good to hire more prohibition agents until the courts are speeded up.

Even the proposal to transfer enforcement from Treasury to Justice will run into a row in the senate if present sentiment is any indication. This administration and the commission have had returning industrial alcohol to the treasury, but Senator Pound and others who head to make it undrinkable object as it would probably make it more difficult to get the stuff to the Justice department.

The idea of enabling border agents and the Coast Guard is opposed by those who dislike to make the guard a police force, while the Coast Guard feels it always has been a police force and objects to the extra work.

Somehow it is always easier to pass drastic legislation after an election. Many Republicans from wet states would prefer enacting these proposals, if at all, after the next presidential elections. Not only would that procedure be less dangerous to the drys, since Republican majorities in the senate, it would also give everyone a chance to find out the sentiment of the country.

PUSH RECREATION TO ADVERTISE FARM, CLAIM

Madison—(AP)—The development of recreational facilities is the best method of advertising the farm products of Wisconsin, in the opinion of George S. Wehrwein of the college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin.

Prof. Wehrwein said that there is no necessity to argue that farmers in Wisconsin share in the direct money income derived from recreation. The enormity of this income has been estimated by the highway commission which counted 14,000 cars entering the state every day for the 120 days of the tourist season.

At that flow of traffic, 7,560,000 cars and an estimated 4,000,000 persons come into the state seeking recreation and spending as estimated $120 ...

The indirect advertising value of the tourist trade is great, according to Prof. Wehrwein.

"I believe it has a way of helping farmers and business men to sell the products of much Wisconsin is famous for. Just one Door county has contributed its natural advantages, the lake shore, the hills, the sandy orchards. People come from ... miles to see them in ... and with fruit. It is not ... to put up a 4-foot poster ... Door county cherries ... anyone has seen the orchards in ...

No. 1. Communication from the Wisconsin County Superintendent's of Schools Association read. (Attendance at annual meeting of county superintendents.)

Barron, Wis., Nov. 11, 1929.

To the County Clerk,

Dear Sir:—At the meeting of the Wisconsin County Superintendent's Association held in Milwaukee Nov. 5 and 6, 1929, the following letter was prepared and a resolution passed directing that it be sent to the county boards of Wisconsin. Will you kindly see that it reaches the chairman of your county board? The favor will be greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,
August Neuman

To County Boards,

Gentlemen:— Recognizing the educational value, both material and inspirational, that comes from attendance at the meetings of our Superintendents' Department of the National Educational Association and from the study of the research reports and journals of that great organization, we sincerely request that your body grant permission to your county superintendent of schools to attend each annual meeting of the National Superintendents' Association with all expenses paid by the county.

Such action will be in keeping with action taken by city boards of education who have for years been sending their superintendents to this meeting. It will be gratefully received by county superintendents since it will enable them to return increased service to the rural schools of their respective counties.

Respectfully yours,
The Wisconsin County
Superintendents' Association,
August Newman, President.

Superv. M. Ryan moved same to be referred to committee on Education. Motion prevailed.

No. 2. Communication from the Wisconsin Good Will Tour Committee read. (Participation in Tour.)

Nov. 12, 1929.

Chairman of County Board,

Dear Chairman:—The 1930 Wisconsin Good Will Tour is an established fact. This is to solicit your cooperation.

In planning the Third Annual Tour, the Committee is endeavoring to obtain a representative group of citizens, scattered throughout the state to participate. This tour leaves the State with official sanction. It is invading a territory which should be productive for Wisconsin's industries.

It is contemplated this train will carry five cars of exhibits. One car will, as in 1929, be converted into a modern dairy barn, occupied by one each of the five leading types of cows in Wisconsin. This was an outstanding feature last year.

Another car will carry a complete refrigeration system and show Wisconsin's leading dairy products, cheese and butter.

The Wisconsin Canners plan on completely filling another car with exhibits of peas, beans, corn, and other canner products.

Recreational advantages of Wisconsin will be featured in another car. The Conservation Commission will, as in the past, convert a car into a condensed section of the North woods. Wild life will be shown in its natural abode.

Potatoes and grain will be featured in another car, and there will be a small but diversified line on the manufacturing industry.

Preparation of the display cars this year will be centralized. No county will be requested to make an exhibit, but the Committee is extending a cordial invitation to each County Board to delegate at least one but not more than two to accompany this train and represent the county. No outside reservations will be given out until we receive an acceptance or a rejection by your county. After you have had opportunity to make reservations, applications from others will be considered.

The object of this Tour Train is to advertise the resources of our State and to learn of and profit by the experiences of others. There are few people who have not had, at some time in their life, an urge to join a business trip of this nature. For those who obtained results on the preceding two trips, nothing need be said — they know — but for those who must make their first decision, this folder has been prepared.

Wisconsin Goodwill Tour Committee,
Geo. H. Dobbins, Chairman.

Superv. Laabs moved same be referred to committee on agriculture. Motion prevailed.

No. 3. Communication from the Wisconsin County Boards' Association read. (Membership and attendance at convention.)

To the County Board of Supervisors,

Dear Sirs:—We are sending to your County Clerk, proceedings of the annual meeting of the Wisconsin County Boards Association held at Madison, Dane Co., Wisconsin on February 13-14-15, 1929, and we ask you to please look these proceedings over carefully. We want your county to become a member of the State Association for 1930, and we urge you to pass a resolution authorizing your clerk to send a remittance of Ten Dollars for dues to A. A. Telfer, Sec.-Treas., Elroy, Wis.

The annual meeting of the Wisconsin County Boards Association will be held at Eagle River, Vilas County, Wis., in June 1930. The exact date and the program will be arranged by the committee later. It was hoped by the officials of the Association and by those attending the 1929 session that by going to the North for our 1930 meeting, we would all get in touch with the particular problems of road construction and other matters pertaining to county government in the North.

Topics will be discussed pertaining to county matters in which we are all interested, and if your county has any particular problem, we would suggest that you become a member of the Association and have your representatives bring facts and figures and be ready to open the discussion.

The Wisconsin County Boards Association is for all counties of the State and your county is urgently requestion to have your representation present and take part in the discussions.

Yours very truly,

Wisconsin County Boards Association — L. D. Eastman, President; R. W. Davis, Vice-Pres.; A. A. Telfer, Sec.-Treas.

Same was referred to finance committee.

No. 4. Communication from the State Board of Health read. (Regarding County Departments of Health.)

Mr. Mike Mack, Chairman, and Members of the County Board of Supervisors, Shiocton, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen:—The 1929 Legislature passed an Enabling Act authorizing counties at their discretion to organize a county department of health. A copy of the Act is enclosed.

Wisconsin is the 37th state to have this type of legislation; 467 counties in the 39 states are now working under a fulltime county health department. The number of county units in the United States has increased from 280 in 1925 to 467 on January 1, 1929. Alabama has 50 counties working under this program; Ohio 45; North Carolina, 39; Kentucky, 39; Louisiana, 29, etc. The constant increase in the number of counties organizing under this plan for health and welfare of the citizens of the county has proven its efficiency.

We need not elaborate on the difficulty of the old system in Wisconsin. There are practically 1781 municipal units in the state. The health officer under the old plan holds office for two years and unfortunately nearly every two years there is between 40% and 50% change in the local health officer personnel. It can be safely said that it takes a quarter of the two years, at least, to get a new man acquainted with the health program and unfortunately the facts are to the effect that many of them never fully understand or appreciate the responsibility placed upon them.

If there is any place in government where consolidation of activities toward economy and efficiency is needed it is in the health program in the various counties of the state, particularly counties wherein the population is largely rural or cities and villages of limited population.

We are writing you to call attention to the opportunities presented to your county for the development of an efficient health and welfare program. I believe it can be safely said that a county unit can more than double the efficiency of the program with practically the amount of money now expended in a county through the local health organization units. The main difference would be in the fact that the county would have charge of the personnel and the financial arrangements instead of the towns, villages and cities. The expenditures, therefore, in the end amount to the same thing.

Your county board meeting is near at hand and while this is a new proposition and may be difficult to give positive consideration at your annual November meeting, yet the opportunities are so great in this particular field of work that the members of your board of supervisors should be made acquainted with the possibility of developing a county health unit, if not now, at least in the not distant future.

President Hoover stated some time ago that the health and welfare of our citizenship should be on a par with our educational program. Following his utterances along these lines a Planning Committee of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection met in the Cabinet room, July 29, 1929, and President Hoover stated:

"Through Secretary Wilbur and Secretary Davis, I have invited you here as the nuclei of a Planning Committee to inaugurate a most important movement to the nation as a whole. That is, that we should take national stock of the progress and present situation in the health and protection of childhood; that out of this investigation we should also develop common sense plans for the further advancement in these directions."

The President further stated:

"I need not urge upon you the fundamental importance of this undertaking. The greatest asset of a race is its children, that their bodily strength and development should prepare them to receive the heritage which each generation must bequeath to the next. Three questions have the widest of social importance, that reaches the roots of democracy itself. By the safeguard of health and protection of childhood we further contribute to that equality of opportunity which is the unique basis of American Civilization."

If a study is made of the cost of the terminal effects of disease in the developing of county and state institutions to house the unfit and compare this study with the amount expended in preventing the development of the unfit and institutional cases, only one conclusion can be reached and that is that the program at the present time is wholly a one-sided program and in order to lessen the ever-growing burden of institutional cases ways and means must be devised to prevent such cases from becoming charges upon society. The biggest step toward that will be the development of county health units having an efficient health organization where the agencies of prevention will receive that due consideration that is so essential to the welfare of American citizenship and civilization and also equally essential to relieve the burden of institutional care.

I trust that very careful consideration will be given by your honorable board of supervisors to this problem and if you can not organize such a program at the present meeting that a committee may be appointed to look into this problem with the ultimate objecive of organizing the health work of your county into a unit for greater efficiency and greater economy so that the necessary information may be had which can be presented at subsequent meetings.

I know your problems are many but I think that you will agree that the health and efficiency of our citizenship is one of the most vital problems, looking at it from any angle that you may desire.

I desire to add that the International Health Board has indicated a willingness to help finance a county health department in a few counties in Wisconsin in order to demonstrate the efficiency of such an organization.

Appreciating your cooperation along these lines, I am

Very truly yours,

No. 5. Communication from the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association read. (Annual meeting Nov. 14 and 15 at Milwaukee.)

Chairman — County Board of Supervisors,

Dear Sir:—The twenty-first birthday meeting of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association will be held on November 14th and 15th, in Milwaukee. All of the sessions except for the dinner, will be at the Health Service Building, 558 Jefferson Street. The dinner meeting will be at the Hotel Astor on the evening of the 14th.

At this meeting we expect several hundred of the health and welfare workers of the state. Subjects of particular interest to sanatorium people, public health nurses, board members, county judges, Red Cross workers and all interested in health will be discussed.

We are confident you will want to see your county represented at the meeting. The paying of the expenses of at least one delegate to this meeting would seem to us to be a very worth while expenditure for your county. He or she will come back with added interest in health and suggestions for needed health programs in your county. We hope, therefore, that you can come yourself or will send some one else to represent your county.

Very truly yours,
Loraine Noll — Business Department.

We feel under obligation to the Matron of the sanatorium, Miss Bridget Boyle, for the efficient services and help to the committee in preparing this inventory.

We wish to congratulate the people of this County in having secured such an efficient superintendent, and also the Board of Trustees, which has done so much to bring about the splendid results of this institution.

Mr. John E. Hantschel, County Clerk of Outagamie County, Appleton, Wisconsin.

Dear Sir:—We should appreciate your presenting to the Outagamie County Board at their November meeting the following report:

Bee disease control work has been progressing very satisfactorily in Outagamie County during the past season under the direction of Mr. George Jacobson, deputy apiary inspector of this department, who was assisted for a short period by Mr. Ivan Whiting, also a deputy of this office.

Under the direction of this inspector we believe very marked progress has been made in the program outlined for the eradication of American foul brood in your county. During the past season 104 apiaries were inspected in the county of which 9 had a total of 16 colonies of bees infected with American foul brood and 13 were killed and burned and the hives either scorched out or burned. 43 beekeepers were found to be still housing their bees in immovable frame hives which do not permit of ready inspection and which the law requires must be transferred to standard hives with movable frames. Some of these have already transferred their bees and the balance served a notice to do so before next season in order that the bees may be inspected without the danger of exposing infected honey bees in the immediate neighborhood. A total of 1,314 colonies were inspected, those in the diseased yards being inspected at least twice.

An excellent spirit of cooperation was shown our inspectors on the part of your beekeepers and it is believed that further work along this line will result, eventually, in the complete eradication of American foul brood from your county. Already the disease is sufficiently under control to make beekeeping profitable again for many of your beekeepers who were being forced out of business by the disease.

	Paid by State	Paid by County
Salary, George Jacobson	$ 26.25	$ 90.00
Expenses, George Jacobson	7.15	72.83
Salary, Ivan Whiting		70.00
Expenses, Ivan Whiting	80.27
	$113.67	$232.83

Recommendations

Experience has taught us that even before a county has been entirely covered it is necessary to inspect each year all apiaries within a radius of two miles of those found infected with American foul brood the year previous, as well as those yards in which the disease actually was found and in which only those colonies found actually diseased were destroyed.

In view of the fact that the cases of disease are now not so widely scattered it appears that fewer inspections will be necessary the coming season than were required last and we believe that the appropriation can be somewhat reduced. We recommend, therefore, that Outagamie County appropriate the sum of $250.00 for this work to be met by an equal sum from our state funds.

Respectfully yours,
E. L. Chambers, State Entomologist.

Approved:
Wm. F. Renk, Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets.

County Board,
John E. Hantschel, Sec., Appleton, Wis.

Dear Sir:—At the last meeting of our Rural Normal School Board the matter of a new wall for the East side of our grounds was brought up. This wall at the base of the hill along the sidewalk is constructed of wood, but it has been in for many years and is now almost rotted away and it does not present a very good appearance.

Would be very glad to have the Board look into the matter, and if possible construct a new wall.

Thanking you, we are

Yours very truly,

DECISION OF THE STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION CHANGE IN STATE TRUNK HIGHWAY SYSTEM IN OUTAGAMIE COUNTY — STATE TRUNK HIGHWAY NO. 76, TOWN OF DEER CREEK

The State Highway Commission, at its meeting held Monday, September 16, 1929, after having given due notice to the localities concerned in accordance with the provisions of Section 84.02, subsection 3 of the Wisconsin Statutes, and not having received any objections, decided to make a change in the State Trunk Highway System in Outagamie County by removing therefrom a certain road and adding another in lieu thereof as hereinafter described.

"Beginning at the corner common to Sections 27, 28, 33 and 34, township 24 North, range 15 East; thence extending westerly between Sections 28 and 33 and 29 and 32 to a point at or near the southwest corner of said Section 29; thence northwesterly through Section 30, said town and range, to a point on the north line of said Section 30 West of the village of Bear Creek."

"Beginning at the corner common to Sections 27, 28, 33 and 34, township 24 North, range 15 East, thence northerly one mile to the northeast corner of said Section 28; thence westerly between Sections 21 and 28, 20 and 29, and 19 and 30, said town and range to a point of intersection with the above described route west of the village of Bear Creek."

Since the foregoing changes less than five miles of the State Trunk Highway System the change becomes effective without the approval of the County Board of Outagamie County.

No. 80. Application for county auditor read. (Reilly, Penner & Benton.)

Appleton, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen:—We herewith respectfully request reappointment as county auditors of Outagamie County for the year 1930.

We propose to undertake this work embracing quarterly examinations and reports and such other wofrk as comes within the ordinary course of business for the sum of $750.00. This proposal represents an increase over our compensation for 1929. In view, however, of the amount of additional work annually necessitated by income tax collections and distributions, additional descriptions in the tax sales, and the general growth of the business of Outagamie County, we feel that the amount asked is reasonable.

We trust that we shall be able to continue our pleasant relationship. --

Yours very truly,
Reilly, Penner & Benton.

To the Honorable County Board of Supervisors of Outagamie County, Wis.

Your committee on agriculture has considered very carefully the attached communication. We feel that this is a worthy movement, and that it should have support; but under present conditions, your agriculture committee hesitates to recommend a plan that calls for an appropriation.

If any member of this board, any interested citizen, wishes to make this Good Will Tour, the agricultural committee recommends that such person be made an official delegate, entitled to the reduced fare and other advantages of such a trip.

To the Honorable Members of the County Board:

Whereas, it is exceedingly difficult and burdensome for the average tax-payer to pay the full amount of his taxes when due during the month of January or shortly thereafter, and

Whereas, the legislature of the state of Wisconsin did pass subsection 2 of Chapter 441 of the laws of 1929 enabling the county board by resolution to extend time of payment of one-half of county taxes for a period not to exceed six months in order to relieve the tax-payers of some of this burden, the postponement, however, being applicable only to those towns, villages and cities which shall also extend the time payment of its taxes for a like period, and

Whereas, the taxpayers, however, shall pay interest at the rate of two per cent (2%) per annum upon the county taxes whose payments is thus deferred, and

Whereas, the interest which has been collected by the County of Outagamie for its surplus which it carries on first six months bear interest on like amount so that the hand over and above what is necessary to expend for the county could not lose thereby.

Now Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the time of payment of one-half of all the county taxes be extended to July 1st of each and every year hereafter, this, however, to apply to those towns, cities and villages who have extended the time payment of taxes to its citizens for a like period, the deferred payments however to bear interest at the rate of two per cent (2%) per annum upon such county taxes.

Be It Further Resolved that those towns, cities and villages desiring to take advantage of this postponement of paying the county taxes shall extend the same privilege to its citizens by complying with the requirements of subsection 2 of Chapter 441 of the laws of 1929 and notifying the county treasurer.

Dated this 15th day of November, A. D., 1929.

F. W. Huth, Supervisor, City of Seymour.

This improvement was approved of and recommended by the County Highway Committee in November of 1926, [illegible] owing to the fact that there was some legal complication [illegible] to condemnation as well as many others were [illegible] in December of 1926. No. 95. Report of the special committee on investigating of respective county offices.

To the Honorable Members of the County Board:—We, the undersigned members of the committee appointed for the investigation of the respective county offices of Outagamie County, beg to report that we have duly examined said county offices, especially that of the Register of Deeds, and after having fully examined the same recommend no change other than the way in which the same is now being conducted; that we find no irregularities; that we find that the fees charged by the Register of Deeds office is the same as charged by neighboring counties; that due to the system of entering by Outagamie County such fees are not excessive; that they are reasonable.

We find from the experiences of the surrounding counties, based upon salary basis, that this office is in most instances operated at a loss to the county as is shown by the report of the District Attorney hereto attached.

Gentlemen:—No. 23 from the April Session, No. 3 and 4 from the October Session and Nos. 10, 12, 15, 26, 46, 65, and 83 from the present Session were referred to the County Highway Committee.

No. 109. Report of the highway committee read. (Regarding placing of road on County Trunk Highway System in the Town of Black Creek.)
To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Outagamie County, Wis.

Gentlemen:—Petition No. 5, from the October Session, requesting that the following described highway be placed on the County Trunk Highway System was referred to this Committee.

Beginning at the southwest corner of section 28 and the northwest corner of section 22 Town of Bovina at the intersection of State Trunk 76 running east between sections 28 and 33, 27 and 34, 26 and 35, and thence south one quarter of a mile between sections 35 and 36 thence east through asection 36 to the Black Creek Town line, thence east through section 31, thence north one eighth mile, thence east one-half mile thence south three quarters of a mile through section 32 to where it intersects with State Trunk "47", a distance of six and three quarters miles.

On this petition your County Highway Committee wishes to make the following report that in view of the fact that this road was formerly on the County Trunk Highway System and in very good condition and later used by the State for a detour while constructing the present State Trunk 54 and now that the later highway has been completed the highway in question has been turned back to the town and also in view of the fact that there is no other road running parallel to this highway for a distance of three or four miles on either side of this highway we feel that this highway should be retained as a part of the County Trunk Highway System of Outagamie County.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Outagamie County, Wis.

Gentlemen:—Your County Highway Committee wishes to submit the following report of the 1929 construction and maintenance work, and to make our recommendations for the coming year.

We shall not make a report of the expenditures for the rest of the season, as this will be embodied in the County Highway Commissioner's report to you.

During the past season, we have made several inspection trips, and found the maintenance and construction work progressing in a satisfactory manner.

County Trunk "Z" between Combined Locks and Kaukauna was completed, and we feel that this improvement compares favorably with any approved type of pavement. This is the only large construction project which was completed under direct county supervision during the past season.

State Trunk "54" between Black Creek and New London is still under construction, but, the State expects that this improvement will be completed within the next two weeks.

A number of smaller construction projects were completed during the past year, and also the county and town aid construction jobs have all been completed.

We have a number of recommendations to make for the coming season and they are as follows:

For the removing of snow in Outagamie County for the coming season, we recommend an appropriation of $25,000.00, and also $82,000.00 for the purchase of snow removal machinery and equipment.

The estimated funds to become available for work in this county under the provisions of section 20.49 of the Statutes, for the improvement of the State and County Trunk Highway Systems in this County are as follows —

For aid in the improvement of the State Trunk Highway System to be allotted as follows —

To complete the surfacing on State Trunk "54"	$10,000.00
For improving State Trunk "55"	84,000.00
To hold in reserve for future allocation	11,602.64
Total amount for construction	$150,102.64
For the improvement of the County Trunk Highway System	38,240.47
For the maintenance of the State Trunk Highway System	57,914.08

From the figures as shown by the Income Tax Assessor, a tax of two mills on the present valuation of the County amounts to $175,690.78, out of which we recommend the following appropriations —

For the county Machinery Fund, out of which is purchased new machinery, small tools, supplies, stocks, and which is also used for the repair of old machinery and equipment, and to take care of the garage payroll	$ 39,000.00
For County and Town Aid Construction to meet the advance made by various towns for this work	15,000.00

The following projects were completed as outlined to you at the August Session, and which you approved of at that time; we, therefore, recommend the following appropriations for these improvements:—

For County Trunk "M" in the Towns of Maine and Bovina	10,000.00
For County Line Road, between Waupaca and Outagamie Counties	5,000.00
County Trunk "Y" in the Town of Seymour	2,100.00
County Trunk "ZZ" in the town of Buchanan	2,500.00
County Trunk "A" in the T. of Grand Chute	2,500.00
County Trunk "SS" in the Town of Osborn	500.00

As per instructions at the April 1929 Session of the County Board, we made arrangements with a local contractor to complete County Trunk "Z", between Kaukauna and Combined Locks, and we therefore recommend an appropriation for this work of | 20,000.00 |
County Trunk "Z" in the City of Kaukauna	6,452.42
	$175,690.78

In addition to the two mill tax, we wish to recommend that the overdraft in the Machinery and State Patrol Funds, existing since 1928, and which amount to $65,654.19, be wiped out at this time, and that the County Board make provisions to take care of this amount in the levy.

As suggested at the April Session of the County Board, we recommend that an addition be made to the County Garage for the purpose of storing and housing County Machinery during the winter months. The estimated cost of constructing an extension to the main building north 108 ft. and 50 ft wide is $11,525.00, and we recommend that this amount be appropriated for this purpose.

Nov. 15, 1929.

To the Honorable County Board of Supervisors of Outagamie County, Wis.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:—It is with pleasure that I submit, this my fifth annual report, ending November 1, 1929.

Health is not an artificial accomplishment, quickly acquired and easily maintained. It is developed of body and mind; a growth slow in progress, a habit broadcasted on heredity and nurture; a balance of moderation of all things; a harmony of a sound mind in a sound body, good nutrition combined with a steady nervous regulation.

This definition of health was given by a George Newmand and probably brings out more clearly than any other the true meaning of it.

It is the aim of the county nurse to help bring to the growing child a clear understanding of true health.

Clinic Work — Because of clinic work it is possible to reach a large number of people in a short period of time. Fifteen clinics were arranged. Ten baby clinics; three two day and one one day chest clinics, and one tonsil clinic. During this time 610 patients were examined and given valuable information regarding health.

An interesting health day was arranged at one of the centers with the schools and churches. A program was given in the evening which was attended by more than 600 people.

It was interested to note the marked improvement in children where clinic work has been conducted for three successive years. They have grasped the positive health idea; the muscular tone is much improved; the general posture is much better and fewer children are under weight.

School Work — Two hundred twenty seven school visits were made during the year at which time 4,325 physical examinations were made. 2,735 students were examined by the doctors and 1,590 inspections were made by the nurse. The examining done by the physicians so authorized by this Honorable Body, was outlined under the direction of the Health Committee and met with most splendid cooperation throughout the country. Only one school preferred not to take advantage of it. This work is well under way and will possibly be completed in a few weeks.

The findings from the examinations were: 1,244 children apparently normal; 61 had infectious skin rash; 39 lung infections; 45 abnormal heart conditions; 370 enlarged thyroids; 19 defective vision; 25 abnormal eye conditions; 3 very poor hearing; 1,038 enlarged or infected tonsils; 1,172 decayed teeth. Due to the fact that such large numbers were found with enlarged thyroid would indicate the urgent need of continuing goitre prevention.

Ninety-seven talks were given to the children in schools and eight talks were given to parents at schools with seventy-one parents attending.

Home Work — Home calls are made to consider with the parents what might be best for the child to help arrange for special treatment or to demonstrate special care. 285 calls were made regarding 295 persons. Frequently the calls are made by invitation of the parents and occasionally after finding abnormal conditions following inspections.

Special Activities — Because available statistics prove that the death rate is increasing in girls between the ages of fifteen and twenty, the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association last year made a survey and reported that lowered resistance was undoubtedly due to insufficient rest, improper clothing, and irregular habits. With this in mind a program was offered entitled "The Girls Health Trial." Thru our schools the girls were urged to enter into the spirit of it. Fifty-nine schools took advantage of it and enrolled five-hundred girls, who received material suggesting ways and means of improving their health and beauty. In some sections the boys would not be outdone and also entered into the race. Because "learning thru action" is most impressive to children, arrangements were made with the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Ass'n. to have "Flaming Arrow" a Pueblo Indian, come to the county for a week and demonstrate in the schools the healthful way of living for an Indian and how it could effect the white man. Performances were given at sixteen schools.

A definite program has been planned for health work in the schools for the 1929-1930 year. A chart entitled "Our Health Record" has been placed in every school, which gives splendid opportunity to encourage health habits that will make for good health. A school reward is offered for all schools completing the record for the year.

Club Work — Group meetings are attended and health talks given. Nineteen such meetings were held during the past year. Ten 4-H Club meetings and nine Parent Teacher Ass'ns.

Handicapped Children — Since the state offers a program for the handicapped or crippled child, assistance was given in making a survey of the county to determine the number needing special attention. At that time fifty-three persons or parents were interviewed and a special Clinic arranged. Twenty-three were examined from the rural sections of the county and it was found that twenty of them would benefit by special treatment, such as could not be given in a home. Arrangements were under way to establish a special school in Appleton for this purpose; it was hoped one could soon be opened. Up to the present time arrangements have not been completed and those needing care are still anxiously waiting.

Contagion — Contagious disease in the county is still a big menace and reaps a harvest not to be proud of. Science has proved that contagious disease can be prevented but unless every one follows the prescribed laws we can not hope to stamp out the hazards of contagion. I believe it was Roosevelt who said, "This county will not be a good place for any of us to live in unless we make it a good place for all of us to live in." This especially holds true of contagious disease. If only a few are careless many are in danger.

May I ask this Honorable Body to help guard the lives of the little folks by assisting in improving the quarantine and placarding system in your respective communities. This would protect the counties' most valuable asset, the children, for the children are the county of the future.

I take this opportunity of thanking you for the past support given me in my work; and success it may have merited is due to your cooperation.

Respectfully submitted,

Marie Klein, R. N.

No. 152. Resolution of the highway committee read. (Construction of Lawe St. Bridge, City of Kaukauna.)

RESOLUTION NO.

MAKING PROVISIONS FOR FINANCING THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE LAWE STREET BRIDGE, CITY OF KAUKAUNA, OUTAGAMIE COUNTY

Whereas, the Board of Supervisors of Outagamie County did file its petition with the State highway commission for the reconstruction of the Lawe Street Bridge, located on a street within the City of Kaukauna, a city of the fourth class, forming a direct connection between portions of the state trunk highway system, spanning a navigable water, and setting forth the necessity for such reconstruction; and

Whereas, as a result of a public hearing in the matter, as required by law pursuant to notice duly given, the State Highway Commission did find and determine in part as follows:

1. That the allegations made in the petition are true and that the request of the petitioners be granted;

2. That the bridge will necessarily be more than three hundred feet long, not including approaches, and that type of structure best adapted to the location is a steel and concrete bridge having a roadway width of 36 ft. and two sidewalks of not less than 6 ft. in width;

3. That the location of the bridge will be approximately the same as the present bridge;

4. That the county especially benefited by the reconstruction of the bridge is Outagamie County;

5. That the estimated cost of the said bridge project is $277,000.00; and

Whereas, the State Highway Commission has further determined and the Wisconsin Statutes provide that the apportionment of the cost of the bridge shall be to Outagamie County $100,000.00 and to the State $177,000.00 and the same having been certified to the County Clerk;

Therefore, Be It Resolved, that there be and is hereby, levied upon all the taxable property of Outagamie County the sum of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00) to defray the county's share of the cost of said bridge; and

Be It Further Resolved, that, under statutory provisions governing, there be and is hereby assessed against the City of Kaukauna, as a municipality benefited, the sum of Forty Thousand Dollars ($40,000.00) to apply toward the county's share of the cost of said bridge.

The County Clerk is hereby instructed to certify this action of the County Board within five days of the adjournment of this session, to the State Highway Commission, and to the clerk of the City of Kaukauna, as prescribed by law.

No. 153. Initiatory resolution on bond issue by supervy. Laabs read.

RESOLUTION OF THE COUNTY BOARD
Providing for Issuing County Bonds for Bridge Improvement

Whereas, the County Board of Supervisors of Outagamie County has complied with the mandate of the Wisconsin Highway Commission for the construction of the Lawe Street Bridge located in the city of Kaukauna a city of the fourth class, the county's share to the construction of which $100,000.00 of which $40,000.00 is assessed to the city of Kaukauna as the municipality benefited.

Whereas, it will require an actual expenditure in the sum of $60,000.00 by the county out of its treasury to construct the same.

Whereas, the county treasury is badly depleted and the amounts to be raised this year to be assessed as county taxes is unusually large and there being no other methods of raising said money without bond issue, and

Whereas, the present bonded indebtedness now existing is very much under the statutory limit,

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the County Board of Outagamie County, Wisconsin, that for the purpose of paying the county's share towards the construction of the Lawe Street Bridge of the City of Kaukauna, Wisconsin, the said county shall issue its series No. 7 non-taxable, semi-annual interest payment coupon bonds as provided for by section 67.12 of the statutes in the form provided by the State Highway Commission in the aggregate amount of $60,000.00 and bearing interest at a rate not to exceed five per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of April and the first day of October of each year, except that the first years interest shall all be payable on the first day of April, 1931. The principal and interest of said bonds shall be payable at the office of the County Treasurer of said County of Outagamie. Said bonds shall be numbered consecutively beginning with number one, they shall all be of the denomination of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) and they shall mature and become due and payable within twelve years from the date of issue and at such time or times as the County Board shall hereafter determine. The said principal sum, together with all other indebtedness of Outagamie County is hereby found and determined as not exceeding the constitutional amount.

The said principal sum, together with all other indebtedness of Outagamie County is hereby found and determined as not exceeding one per cent (1%) of the value of the taxable property in the county. It is further found and determined that the total amount of the balance outstanding at this date, together with this present issue does not exceed one per cent (1%) of the total of the assessed valuation of the county.

It is further found and determined that the amount of the bonds provided for herein and issued at this time is not in excess of one-tenth of one per cent of the total assessed valuation of said county.

The said bonds shall be issued and negotiated by the Chairman of the County Board and the County Clerk of Outagamie County in conjunction with and as advised by the Finance Committee as authorized by the resolution of the County Board, the proceeds to be expended as required by the State Highway Commission to be expended in the construction of the said Lawe Street Bridge located on a street in the City of Kaukauna, a city of the fourth class as more specifically described in the findings of the State Highway Commissioner heretofore filed with Outagamie County.

Be It Further Resolved: That there shall be raised, levied and collected and there is hereby assessed, levied and ordered collected upon all taxable property, both real and personal, within said Outagamie County, Wisconsin, a direct annual irrepealable tax sufficient to pay the interest on such bonds as it falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof as such principal falls due.

RADIO RECEIVING SET PRODUCTION IS BELOW NORMAL

Field of Electronic of Vaccum Tubes Going Ahead Rapidly, However

BY J. C. ROYLE

Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

Washington—Radio receiving set production is still proceeding under restraint, but this trend is absent from the field of electronic or vacuum tube production. The receiving set stocks are fairly heavy with a very sizeable carryover from 1929. These have to be marketed before the industry can get back safely to a capacity production basis, according to reports reaching official departments here. Such marketing must proceed, moreover, without the stimulus of new designs or unlooked for and attractive engineering developments.

The market for vacuum tubes, on the other hand, is growing with remarkable speed.

These electronic tubes no longer are confined to radio. They are being used in a score of industries and new uses are being found for them constantly.

USED TO TELEPHONY

They are now deemed essential in telephony. It is used to open garage doors at the sound of a horn or the fighting of an airport on the approaching bark of an airplane motor. It is used in broadcasting, in the production of sound pictures, in the operation of telegraph and cable lines, for lighthouses channel markers and beacons, in the operation of airplanes, television, automatic machine control and traffic control.

On it t a large extent have come to depend television, the regulation of airplane compasses, the operation of carrier systems and electronic recording. It is used in the counting of coins and other articles, in the grading of goods and their separation by colors, in the practice of medicine and in the metering of gas and electric flow.

Prospecting for oil and metals beneath the earth's surface is now conducted not with a pick or drill, but by means of these tubes and their sensitive reactions. They are being adopted for detection of crime, for the control of trains and steamships and leveling of elevators and hundreds of other purposes.

BIG REPLACEMENT DEMAND

Approximately 55,000,000 tubes were sold in 1929. The replacement demand is estimated at between 35,000,000 and 40,000,000 and there is no reason to believe that the replacement demand will be smaller this year. It is likely that the requirements as original equipment for the receiving sets built this year will be at least 17,500,000, while the new uses are likely to increase the consumption to an extensive degree.

It is this favorable outlook which now is adding acrimony to the dissentions as to patent rights and royalties in hearings on the Couzens Communications bill. It is charged that holders of many tube patents are making it impossible for independents licensed to manufacture under those patents to make tubes for other than receiving sets.

The sale of radio sets has been stimulated this week by the opening of the naval disarmament conference in London. This influence, however, has aided the sale of accessories sugh as tubes, batteries, chargers and other accessories rather than the sale of new sets. What it has done, however, is to stimulate the purchase of radio sets in Europe and other countries. This is a fertile field for the American manufacturer, since in it he can find a market for battery operated sets thrown back on his hands in the form of trade-ins. The European houses are not wired for electricity to the same extent as the houses of America and the battery set still is both popular and necessary.

Schooner Brings Rare Trophies From South Seas

Savannah, Ga.—The three-masted auxiliary schooner Mary Pinchot dropped her anchor in Savannah harbor, after having taken a gray-haired former governor of Pennsylvania on a roving trip to the islands of the South Seas in search of a dream that he dreamed when he was a lad in college.

Gifford Pinchot's boat has come back to civilization after a 20,000 mile cruise, and the former governor has gone back to Philadelphia and Washington to spend the winter. The voyage filled an ambition he had nursed for 40 years.

Next spring Governor Pinchot, members of his family and certain scientists plan another voyage to the glistening seas of the South Pacific and the tropical islands that do that ocean.

BRINGS STRANGE CARGO

It has been many a day since a ship sailed into Savannah harbor bringing such a thrilling tale and varied cargo as did the Mary Pinchot. Fresh from a journey to the islands of the South Pacific—the Marquesas, the Society Islands, the Toumotos and the Galapagos—the vessel brought strange trophies.

The jawbone of a seat bat, four feet long; a tiger shark's jaw, large enough for a man's head to go through; baby specimens of the giant Galapagos tortise, snuggling down by the warmth of the galley fire; a poi bench and masher that served a South Sea family for mixing the food of fish and vegetables; cocoanut groves; coral of varied hues and shapes; shells, beautiful as Chinese porcelain. These and many other specimens were aboard.

Mr. Pinchot, now well advanced in years, took an active part in collecting specimens for the National Museum at Washington, and for the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Science. He harpooned the big sword fish off Albemarle Island in the Falapagos. The "sword" measures four feet

WALKED ON OCEAN FLOOR

The water is crystal clear, but the inexperienced diver finds distances under the surface deceptive. Captain Frederick A. Brown of Port Jefferson, N. Y., who commanded the schooner, tells of a member of the expedition who smashed a beautiful coral specimen when he misjudged distance is using a crowbar to knock the coral from where it was growing.

In the Marquesas Islands the expedition captured a giant Manta or sea bat. Although this sea monster looks like a bat the comparison ends with that, for it was 18 feet across the wings and its upper jaw bone measured four feet.

NATIVE LEAPS ON FISH

Captain Brown tells how these monsters swim sluggishly near the surface and are harpooned by a native swimmer who jumps out of a small boat onto the fish, burying a harpoon in its back. Then the native loses no time in swimming back to the small boat and clambering back to safety. The sea bat was hoisted on deck with block and tackle.

The expedition had to use mechanical devices to move one of the huge Galapagos turtles from a small mountain top down to the beach. Six men, using poles and slings, urged the tortoise toward the beach, whence it and some of its fellows were taken aboard.

Several baby tortoises were also brough to Savannah, the ship's cook giving them a warm berth by the galley stove.

HARPOONED SWORD FISH

It was also off the Marquesas that the expedition captured a tiger shark whose jaws open a foot and a half wide enough to snap off the head of a man. The jawbone of this shark shows five rows of teeth, one behind the other. Each tooth is of razor sharpness.

The hula-hula is danced in the South Seas by men and women each in separate lines, with a "headman" wearing on his wrists two wigs of human hair. These he waves and shakes. Captain Brown stated, and the natives take the time from him. Captain Brown has some beautiful specimens of the hula dancers' silk-like straw skirts and headdresses.

The expedition found the natives hospitable, and especially so where the ship's doctor did much needed medical work among them. The Marquesas are a fast dying race, tuberculosis and other diseases taking a heavy toll.

RECOMMEND COMMITTEE FOR SUPERVISED PLAY

C. K. Boyer of the Civic Council upon the request of Mayor A. C. Rule, has recommended a committee to take charge of supervised play during the summer. The members proposed by Mr. Boyer are Harry Sylvester, who served as chairman last year, Adolph Guyer, Mrs. D. P. Steinberg, and Miss Marjorie Krankhold, new recreational director at the Appleton Womans club.

The committee probably will be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the aldermen at the next meeting of the common council.

SCOUT CEREMONY AT LAWRENCE CHAPEL TO BE IMMENSE AFFAIR

Make Elaborate Plans for Golden Arch Services. Clark Reports

The Golden Arch ceremony planned by the Valley council of boy scouts at Lawrence Memorial chapel at 7:45 Friday evening, Jan. 31, is considered to be one of the greatest projects of the council for the new year, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. Equipment especially arranged for the ceremony is being furnished by the Rockford Ill., scout council.

The Golden arch was staged here two years ago at Knights of Pythias hall and over 600 people witnessed the impressive services. It is expected 1,200 people will attend the ceremony this year.

The Rockford council has only got its equipment, which will add both to the impressiveness and practicality of the ceremony. Over 400 Valley council boy scouts in full dress uniform will take part in the services, which are to be directed under the supervision of Mr. Clark, assisted by Dr. E. J. Ladner, E. A. Kellogg and Clyd Schroeder, scout commissioners.

Elaborate souvenier programs will be distributed at the chapel doors. The program will include the names of scouts who are to be honored during the ceremony, as well as a detailed explanation of the Golden arch.

La Vahn Maesch, Lawrence Conservatory of Music organ instructor, will be at the chapel organ. Mr. Maesch also played at the ceremony two years ago.

One of the main objects of the ceremony is to give the general public the opportunity to witness the primary objects of the scout movement, as well as to show the methods in which scout work is carried on in the Valley council.

ISOLATION

HARRISBURG, Neb. —Banner County is the flapper's idea of isolation. It lacks a barber shop, pool hall, moving picture theater, or railroad; has but one town, one newspaper and one land. Still it ranks fourth among the counties of Nebraska in production of winter wheat, the population of the county in 1925 was 1509.

"Personal Service"

GENERAL MOTORS' lowest-priced Eight

$1045 AND UP

Its 251-cubic-inch engine develops 85 horsepower. This is the highest power to be found in any car of Oakland's size and weight, excepting only racing cars. Oakland produces one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight. Few, if any, cars can pass it on the hills. For the same reason few cars can equal its top speed. And its high ratio of horsepower to weight also accounts for its fast acceleration in traffic.

Several of the engineers who participated in creating General Motors' first eight-cylinder car are responsible for the new Oakland. With their background of sixteen years' experience, they have been able to incorporate in the new Oakland many advancements leading to remarkable smoothness and flexibility.

If you are among those who think that all cars of similar price are "just about the same," drive General Motors' lowest-priced eight. We want you to enjoy its superior performance. And we believe you will be deeply impressed.

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Compare the delivered prices as well as the list (f. o. b.) prices when comparing automobile values ... Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

IRVING ZUELKE

Phone 405 One Door East of Appleton State Bank

SYNOPIS: Mystery, murder and intrigue—the dark shadow they cast over Yew Lodge, deepens. Jim suspects Ben, the Evans' hired boy of stealing the contents of an incriminating letter written to Obadiah Evans by Jamieson Sinclair — the unknown figure who will inherit the Prescott estate if Peggy forfeits her rights. Obadiah goes to Torrington hospital, vainly seeking information about Sundown's night blindness and is startled to learn Prescott died from snake bite. Peggy recovering from a sprained ankle seeks to dispel the fears of Julia who tells her of hearing strange noises from the pond and of twice seeing Prescott in her dreams.

CHAPTER 20
TREASURE TROVE

SHADOWS crept into the living room as darkness descended and reminded Peggy she was hungry.

She heard the tinkle of silverware in the dining room and soon Julia's figure emerged through the doorway, wheeling a tea-table on which she had placed Peggy's dinner.

As she drew the wagon up to the couch on which Peggy reclined, Julia rested her hand and weight on Peggy's foot accidentally. At Peggy's involuntary cry as the weight caused her pain, Julia lifted her hand and tipping her body backwards slid off the edge of the couch, carrying the light comfort and a heavy book at the end of the couch to the floor with her.

"I'm jes' a clumsy fool," she ejaculated, restoring the comfort and Bible—the one that Peggy had found in the basement—first disentangling the pocket of her own apron which had caught in a corner of the large heavy volume.

"I hope I didn't hurt yo' bad, honey?"

"No, only for a second," and then turned to satisfy her appetite which was amazingly good despite her inactivity and worried state of mind. Peggy pressed her hand warmly, and as she bade Julia good night — "Don't wait up for me: I'll read for awhile."

"Best not stay too long," advised Julia. "I'll leave main do' open; jes' call of yo' wants me."

For awhile there drifted to Peggy the familiar hymns of her childhood, sung by the negro soldiers in her father's regiment, as Julia's voice was uplifted in song.

The singing ceased abruptly and Peggy concluded that Julia had climbed into bed, but all inclination to close her own eyes and court slumber had been banished.

Swinging her feet to the ground, she pulled the comfort toward her, intending to fold it and in so doing dragged the family Bible up on her lap.

She had carried it over to the couch earlier in the evening, thinking she might enjoy looking it over, not having done so since taking the Bible out of the chest of drawers in the locked basement bedroom.

Peggy looked down at the calfskin binding; it appeared both old and interesting, bearing in faded gold lettering the world "Holy Bible," and further down the initials "T. O. P."

She turned the time-stained leaves and passed over the entries of birth and marriages and deaths, wherein was recorded, in faded ink the names of representative generations of the Prescotts.

She was about to close the book when she noticed that a page further on was slightly separated from the next, evidently by some object wedged between them. Opening the Bible at that point, she saw a gold coin lying there at the bottom of the pages.

Peggy took up the coin and turned it over—a $20 gold piece lay in her hand. Holding it up to the light, she read the date—1847. An old coin then, although the gold was not tarnished in the slighest, not even a speck of dust lay on its bright surface, even though the edges of the look were black.

The girl frowned, then smiled. Why worry over the coin's shiny appearance? It was treasure trove and she was $20 the richer by her find. And $20 was a considerable sum when she considered her depleted funds, with the first of the month at hand and her bills in Litchfield coming due.

She had only the traveler's checks, taken out for her contemplated trip to join her parents in the Philippines, with which to meet current expenses, as Philander Chase had told her he could not furnish her with money until her claims to her inheritance were fully established.

Perhaps there were other coins in the Bible? Peggy held it face down and shook the leaves, but nothing fell out and disappointed, she again laid it down in her lap and turned its pages; some were stuck together from dampness and perhaps paper money, not gold, might be accidently concealed within the Bible. She laughed aloud at the fantastic idea as she carefully turned one page after another.

"As cold water to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country."

"Good news from a far country." Peggy repeated the words under her breath; no sentiment could be more in accord with her most ardent wishes; how she longed for letters from the Philippines. She knew they would breathe love, hope and encouragement.

Peggy paused in turning another page, strangely elated. Out of the whole Bible she had picked out casually a sentence particularly applicable to her own situation; it must be an omen—but had she picked it out so casually; instead had her eye not been caught by the black pencil mark under the six words of that particular verse?

As she lowered the Bible, she noticed a small arrow on the wide margin. It was small, neat and in perfect drawing. Her eyes shifted from it to the verse to which it pointed and she read the words underscored by a black pencil:

"Fret not thyself because of evil men"—her eyes strayed across the page to the other underscored words—the first she had noticed—there at the margin was the selfsame perfectly drawn arrow.

"'When thou hast found it, then there shall be a reward and thy expectation shall not be cut off.'"

Again and yet again, Peggy read the words, aloud and to herself, struggling to solve the puzzle. She glanced at the top of the page of Proverbs and at the chapter numbers—24 and 25—

Perhaps the answer was further forward or further back. She turned both pages — turned more — then sat back—startled and confused by what she did not understand — The Book of Proverbs, save for the two pages she had been reading — was missing.

KAUKAUNA QUINT DEFEATED 29 TO 9 BY NEENAH CAGERS

Experience and Height of Visitors Too Much for Little Team

Kaukauna — The high school basketball team Friday evening was defeated by Neenah, 29 to 9, at the local auditorium. In the first half the Kaws, kept the Neenah five moving at top speed to attain an 8 to 3 lead.

The game was not one sided as indicated by the score. The locals played fast, but they were unable to cope with the height of their opponents. Kaukauna started the scoring when Dix made a pretty shot. A free throw immediately after added another point for the Kaws and they held a 3 to 0 lead. It was the only time they led during the entire game. Just before the quarter ended Neenah hit its stride and made two baskets to take a 4 to 3 lead.

As the second quarter started the Neenahites found that they had a decided advantage in height and began to use it with effect. With the help of Bell, lanky center, and garnered seven baskets, the invading team got nearly every tip off, and by using the over head style of play pulled away from the Kaws for an 8 to 3 lead at the half time period. Van Lieshout and Farwell, guards, were playing an outstanding game at the rear posts and only once did a Neenah man break under the basket to score. The other baskets were made on long shots.

The fast pace told on the smaller Kaukauna players and in the third period Neenah scored frequently. Bell and Hahl took turns at tallying while Ehlers, guard, came up frequently form his guard position to count. Neenah scored six points in about one minute after the third quarter started. As the quarter ended the Littlemen staged a rally for four points.

In the last quarter Neenah scored nine points. Most of them were made on follow in shots when the skyscraping cagers too the ball from the bounding board to push it up into the net. The Kaukauna team showed much improvement since the last game and gave the fans a good game with plenty of spirit.

The preliminary game between the Kaukauna high seconds and the Neenah seconds was won by the latter, 11 to 3.

GOLF DIRECTORS TO BUILD CLUBHOUSE

Building 20 by 30 Feet Will Be Erected on Course Next Spring

Kaukauna — At a meeting of the directors of the Kaukauna Golf club this week at the office of the Fox River Navigation company, it was decided to erect a small club house at the golf course early next spring. It will be a one room building, 20 by 30 feet, with a 10-foot porch around it. Grass seed for the fairways was ordered.

Plans for laying pipes on the course were discussed. The directors are optimistic over the progress at the club, which was organized last fall. The work so far has cost less than estimated. Seed for the greens will be ordered soon. Work on the course, which is located near Combined Locks, will be resumed as soon as warm weather arrives.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Lloyd Derus. His telephone number is 194-W. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Derus.

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL
Associated Press Financial Editor

New York —(AP)— Wall Street witnessed a firm Saturday market today despite rather heavy week-end profit taking in some of the recent leaders. Increased activity and strength was noted in a number of low and medium priced oil and automobile accessory shares, probably due to a revival of pool operations, but the best gains were recorded in the high priced industrials and public utilities.

Dow Jones reported that operations of the U. S. Steel corporation were now slightly in excess of 75 per cent of capacity, as against a low level of 59 per cent in the holiday period, but steel interests were reported as regarding as ridiculous the reports that the rate would be stepped up to 90 per cent within two weeks and to 100 per cent by March 1.

Bank clearings showed a further falling off in volume, as compared with a year ago, and the weekly mercantile reviews reported further irregularity in general business. Price movements in the stock market generally were believed to reflect the usual weakk-end readjustment of speculative accounts, with an increasing tendency noted on the part of small bear traders to cover their commitments.

Hocking Valley, making one of its infrequent appearances on the tape, jumped 39 points above the previous sale to 450. Auburn Auto soared 13 1-4 points and American Tobacco Issues., Westinghouse Electric, General Electric and Western Union sold 3 to 5 1-2 points higher.

New York Central, DuPont, Lima Locomotive, Clorado Fuel, Mexican Seaboard, Houston Oil, Vulcan Detinning and Bush Terminal all sold 2 or more points higher.

BOND TRADING LIGHT WITH LITTLE CHANGE

New York—(AP)—Weekend trading in bonds was unusually light today and prices moved rather erratically. In the entire list, United States governments, which featured the late dealings yesterday with a substantial upturn, were irregularly higher. The liberties got virtually all of the attention.

Sales of high grade domestic corporation issues involved only a handful of bonds. Western Electric 5S and Atchison General 4S advanced about a point each in dealings of this sort, while Indianapolis & Louisville Railway first 4S lost 3(AP) and Mobile & Ohio General 4S dropped more than a point.

There was heavy trading on the curb in the forthcoming Baltimore & Ohio Convertible 4 1-2S, which hovered just above 101 against the announced offering price of 95. However, convertibles listed on the New York Stock exchange were very thin. The American Telephone 4 1-2S were so dull that the turnover in the first half hour amounted to only $5,000. principal amounts.

PRICES LAG WHEN ARRIVALS INCREASE

Packers Take Liberal Portion of Run of 15,000; Little Action

Chicago —(AP)— Advancing prices drew too many hogs to market this morning and prices tended to lag behind the average yesterday. Early sales were 10 lower, although little was done on the light lightweights, which would ordinarily lead the market. Some good to choice 200-lb. butchers were sold at 10.35 by a cautious sell, at about a 15 loss from the day before. Heavier kinds to 260 lbs. did little betteran than 10.00 in the early trade. The large packers took a liberal portion of the run of 15,000 here, when 9,000 went to them on direct consignment. Shippers were not so early to come out for supplies and the market was a little uncertain until they did.

There was nothing doing in the cattle alleys this morning, with practically no fresh supplies on hand, and with no one interested in further purchasing. Packers report full coolers as the week closes, and that fact, coupled with the unusually sluggish dressed beef trade, accounted for the poor finish of a poor week. All steers except specialities, light yearlings and well finished medium weight steers, end the week at the bottom of a rather steady decline. Too many weighty steers from 1,400 to 1,600 lbs. have come in, and they have met with little demand at any time this week. Few sold above 13.00.

Out of the run of 3,000 sheep today, 1,400 of them were sent to the packers on direct consignment, and the rest held over for better days. The week closed disastrously for fat lambs, which have declined steadily from above 14.00 to a final top of 12.50. Receipts have been relatively smaller than last week, but a slowing up of the dressed lamb and mutton trade made the markets every bit as deluged. Shipping demand also fell off sharply.

WHEAT IS STRONG DESPITE BIGGER ARGENTINE CROP

Early Dip Is Wiped Out When Buying Orders Increase

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago—(AP)—Despite unofficial estimates that Argentina has harvested 50,000,000 bu. more wheat than the Argentine government has reported, wheat prices here displayed notable firmness today. After an early dip that resulted from an overnight accumulation of selling orders and from prospects that considerable enlargement of the amount of wheat afloat on ocean passage would be announced Monday, the Chicago market averaged higher most of the day. Export business in North American wheat today was small, but bids for fair-sized amounts were at hand, although at prices below the prevailing market level.

Fresh buying power which developed after price downturns today in the wheat market here lifted values quickly, and earlier losses were more than counterbalanced. The buying came largely from commission houses and proved to be of sufficient volume to absorb all the offerings in sight for the time being. More or less stimulus for buyers was found in the fact that primary receipts of domestic wheat today continued to be decidedly under those of either a week or a year ago.

Much of the buying of wheat future deliveries today in the Chicago market appeared to be also for previous speculative sellers who were executing an about-face in their trade position. Presence of a new cold wave in the north-central portion of the country, with temperatures 20 to 25 degrees below zero in sections of Minnesota, attracted notice as possibly indicative of crop damage ahead for unprotected winter wheat further south.

A rally from the low point in today's corn market lifted values above yesterday's finish, but the upturn was lost later when wheat reacted. Eastern demand for corn disappointing. Early losses in oats were regained later on scattered buying.

Provisions eased down, responsive to lower quotations on hogs.

Grain Notes

Chicago—With export demand virtually absent and with the customary concommittant lately of that situation, bearish sentiment in resurgence, operators yesterday were generally impressed with the idea that only a trading market may be expected for the present. A seaboard trader visiting here stated that foreigners will only be buying freely on breaks. He said he wheat situation was fully comprehended abroad and that purchases will be made only when the market position is satisfactory to the buyer.

The Oklahoma Wheat Growers association has started a move to send American wheat to China to relieve the surplus beer and food famine there. A letter has requested that President Hoover assist in making this a national movement.

With corn worth 95 cents a bushel fed to hogs and only 70 to 75 cents in the grain market, it appears to be cheap enough, Riordan Marun and Company says. James E. Bennett and Co had word from Peoria that there is no congestion there, demand taking care of all receipts and occasioning buying of corn to arrive every day.

"King's Cousin"

Here is a new and striking camera study of Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy. He is wearing the uniform of the Annunciata, which gives him the title of "King's Cousin." The Annunciata is an old Italian order—and one which he has conferred on the premier.

ALL GROUPS GAIN ON CURB MARKET

Trading Is Featured by Strength of Utilities and Investment Issues

New York—(AP)—The Curb Market made further progress in all groups today, although the gains in most cases held to small figures, largely for the utilities, notably United Gas which rose 3 1-4 points, and a continuation of Friday's support in the investment trust and finance company group, were features of the fairly active two hour trading session.

American Gas & Electric was marked up 4 1-2 points on small transactions, but United Gas was under substantial accumulation, and held all but a fraction of its rise. Associated Gas & Electric A, American Superpower, Electric Bond & Share, Middlewest utilities and Allied Power & Light were firm.

Goldman Sachs trading again met moderate pressure and sagged. Lehman Corporation, Public Utility Holding and Trans-American Corp. advanced, but the improvement was of smaller proportions than this group made on Friday.

Several sizeable gains appeared in the industrials. Cleveland Tractor and Franklin Manufacturing rose 3 each, while New Jersey Zinc rallied 2 3-4. Newmont featured the mining group with a rise of 2 1-2. The oils were firm.

Lerner Stores, with an advance of 4 5-8 points, was the strongest spot in the chain store section. Fox Theatres A was well taken at a net advance of half a point, closing at the high.

New York —(AP)— New financing planned by the Washington Water Power Co., controlled by the American Power & Light Co., is for the acquisition of the Kootenai Power Co. and electric distributing systems serving 25 communities in eastern Washington, and Idaho, including Lewiston and Orangeville. The new financing will be a $25,000,000 issue of 5 per cent bonds.

The Petroleum Iron Works Co., of Sharon, Pa., has received an order for 600 tank cars of 10,000 gallon capacity each, from the Pennsylvania Tank line. The order involves more than $1,000,000.

Merrill, Lynch & Co., members of the New York Stock exchange and specialists in chain store financing, plan to retire from the stock brokerage business, turning that part of its activities over to E. A. Pierce & Co. including its memberships in the New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit stock exchanges. Merrill, Lynch & Co. will then devote all of its time to the development of its investment banking business.

The note was given to the Public National Bank and Trust company of New York Dec. 9, last and was for $450,000. Attorneys for the bank said that $109,255 has been paid on the note when suit was started and $1,688 paid that time. The difference between the total of those sums plus the amount of the judgment and face of the note represents interests and costs.

BABSON OUTLINES METHODS TO HELP BUSINESS RECOVER

Marked Recession Is Apparent Now, Expert Points Out

Babson Park, Fla.—There is no gainsaying the fact that business is undergoing a very marked recission. Steel, building, automobiles, and other basic industries vitally influencing general trade conditions, are now operating at a reduced capacity. Sales resistance has noticeable stiffened in nearly all lines. Collections are difficult. Employment has fallen off about 4 per cent. So far as we have experienced about the same degree of recession that occurred in 1927. The majority of opinion by thoughtful business leaders and economists is that the recovery will not be sharp or immediate, and some think that business will scrape bottom for several months.

Instead of trying to gloss over the situation with Pollyanna stories about how good business is, let us face the facts squarely. Let us ask ourselves what constructive action may be taken to prevent a more severe depression, and to hasten business recovery. President Hoover has led the way. He has the right idea that the greatest need is to keep the people's consuming power up to good levels insofar as it is possible to do so. The Nation is indeed fortunate in having for its leader at a critical time like this a man who thoroughly understands business and whose economic vision, coupled with sound practicality, should do much to lead us on to recovery. However, it is positively not President Hoover's purpose to bolster up any false condition, or to encourage a revival of the speculative enthusiasm which contributed to the present trouble. The president's program is to allow the necessary readjustment to take place in an orderly manner, and to prevent by constructive action, the possible turning of the current depression into a more serious affair like that of 1914 or 1921.

EMPLOYMENT SUSTAINED

As I have said, President Hoover has sounded the keynote. The purchasing power of the people must be sustained by every legitimate means. How is this to be accomplished? First, through affording employment to as many workers as possible. Of course, the governmental public works building program probably cannot get fully under way until spring. In the meantime the public utility and railroad organizations can help keep up employment by carrying forward their normal construction programs. Industrial corporations can help by doing necessary work of modernization, which they would have done normally, but may have delayed owing to the financial crash. On the other hand, it will not help any to go ahead and over-produce commodities of which there is already too great a supply. In fact, over-production was the primary cause of the business recession anyway. The stock market crash was a secondary and contributing cause. It is not argued that business men should now follow a foolish policy of over-expansion, but that they should consciously endeavor not to be swayed by mob psychology into the needless postponement of orders, or the postponement of normal improvement expenditures. Also workers should not be released or wages cut except where it is absolutely impossible to avoid such action.

PUSH FOREIGN TRADE

The second vital way to help business is to push for additional sales outlets in foreign countries. We should not begrudge the export of gold that is now going on. There is still plenty of gold in the country and we can well afford to spare some of it to countries where it is vitally necessary to support buying power. As European finance becomes more stable and her industry prospers our export trade will prosper.

The United States Department of Commerce has made great strides in recent years in the organization and dissemination of data on foreign markets. American manufacturers should take full advantage of the facilities of this department. It is sometimes argued that since our foreign trade constitutes only about 10 per cent of our domestic production that is inconsequential and insufficient to influence domestic prosperity. This is not true. That 10 per cent margin of exports over and above our own consuming requirements spells the difference between glutted markets and industrial depression at home, or a healthy balance between supply and demand with a profitable price level. Moreover, without producing capacity speeded up to such a high level through improved methods and machinery, we must find increasing foreign outlets for the surplus. Hence, the aggressive exploitation of foreign markets is one of the best ways American business men can help present business conditions.

SHOULD AVOID DISPUTES

The third way to help business is for business men to insist that all their congressmen and senators act like rational human beings. Needless bickerings over the tariff and over many far less important matters have undermined the confidence of the business community in the law-making body of the land. The best way congress can help business is to get down to work on vital questions, and to quit playing a selfish political game.

ADVERTISING OPPORTUNITY

Advertising can play a great part in assisting business through the present troubled waters. Keeping in mind that factories can only operate when the consuming markets will absorb their products, well directed advertising campaigns should do more than anything else toward creating greater markets, establishing new uses, and hence sustaining employment. One of the true functions of advertising should be to smooth out business bumps. Now is the golden opportunity to exercise that function! Extensive use in this country of labor-saving machinery, and greater industrial efficiency have created a far greater output per worker than ever before. It is up to the advertising and sales organizations to provide expanding markets for this great production. Moreover, advertising should not be confined to this country, but should extend to foreign countries as well. This is the time when liberal advertising can do the most economic good and also the most good to the individual business using it. The best way to meet competition is to advertise.

BACK TO WORK

The fifth and best way to help business is for everybody, executives and workers alike, to get back to hard work. We have had our speculative "spree." Now let us knuckle down to the daily task. When everyone from the president of the company down to the janitor can truthfully say at the end of the day's work: "I have fully earned the money my company pays me," then we need have little fear for the future of business.

Business by the Babsonchart now stands at 8 per cent below normal compared with 7 per cent above normal a year ago.

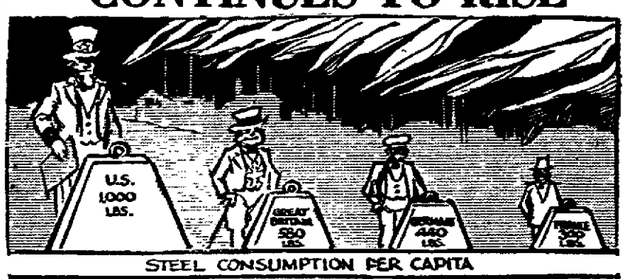
U. S. STEEL CONSUMPTION CONTINUES TO RISE



STEEL CONSUMPTION PER CAPITA

BY ALLARD SMITH

THE amount of steel consumed by or for every man, woman and child in the United States in 1929 was 1000 pounds. This is larger by far than the amount used per capita by any other nation in the world. The American consumption of steel last year was the greatest on record, and it was more than three times the total at the beginning of this century.

The figure of per capita use of steel constitutes a telling measure of high American living standards. This is true because steel is the universal metal of modern life and as its use expands, so multiply comforts and conveniences in the form of motor cars, buildings and the countless other things in common use.

If any evidence were needed that Americans enjoy better living standards than peoples of other great nations, the facts of steel consumption would supply it. According to a compilation of Iron Trade Review, the average American consumed more than three times the amount of steel in 1929 than the average Frenchman. The American used more than twice that of the German and nearly 1¾ times as much as did the average person of Great Britain.

Compared with consumption of 1000 pounds per capita of steel in the United States in 1929, that for Great Britain was 550 pounds; that for Germany was 440 pounds, and that for France was 300 pounds.

In America per capita steel consumption has increased steadily over past decades. Fifty years ago, when the record was first begun, the average American used only about 40 pounds of steel every year. This was before the days of the automobile and the steel skyscraper. By 1890 the figure had grown to 150 pounds annually, but the great increase did not begin until the start of the present century which was to usher in the era of vast industrial expansion, and mass production and consumption of goods.

COLLAPSE OF STOCK PRICES WIPES OUT BIG PAPER PROFITS

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

New York—The second of the two reasons advanced so strenuously last summer why investors should give the preference to common stocks over bonds, namely that the equity of the stockholder was constantly increasing, can be better defended than the claim that only by the purchase of stocks can protection be secured against a depreciating dollar.

The downward trend in commidity prices has been discussed in the preceeding article in this series. Taking up now the other point, it is true that if a corporation has outstanding both a mortgage bond carrying a 5 per cent coupon and a common stock paying 5 per cent in dividends the owner of the latter is better off than the holder of the former just as long as the corporation earns more than it pays out to its stockholders. The surplus whether it is reinvested in the business or whether otherwise employed belongs to the shareholder. Eventually this ownership of an undistributed surplus will be reflected in the market price of the stock. In any case it raises the value of the stock as distinct from the market price.

There is, however, one fly in the ointment, and that is the way in which market prices fluctuate. The investing public has just had one convincing illustration of this fact in the 1929 panic. Investment trust reports now being published itemize what they call "unrealized depreciation on securities. The individual investor is in the same boat. If he takes an inventory of his holdings he finds himself anywhere from ten to thirty per cent poorer than he thought he was last August as far as the common stocks are concerned.

Of course it is a paper loss but if circumstances compel him to realize on any of his securities, the paper loss becomes an actual loss. Last summer he felt rich and he spent freely. Now he feels poor and he economizes which is partly at least the trouble with business.

GREENHOUSES GET READY FOR EASTER, VALENTINE SEASONS

Many Beautiful Flowers, Potted Plants Sold at Junction Shop

To the optimistic individual visiting the Junction Greenhouses on W. Prospect-ave, where beautiful winter flowers are now in full bloom and where preparations are well underway for planting seeds for spring flowers, spring is just around the corner.

One forgets all about the frigid atmosphere and heavy snows which cover the landscape outdoors, as in the Junction Greenhouses, temperatures such as are found in the sunny south predominate.

Roses, tulips, freshias, large hyacinths and many other species of beautiful flowers are now in full bloom, and the crops this winter are far better than those of other years, in the opinion of Miles Meidam, proprietor.

Most of the seeds for flowers, which are expected to be ready for sale on Valentine's Day, have been planted, and the ground in the various benches which will hold flowers to be sold on Easter Sunday is now being prepared for planting.

The Junction Greenhouses carry a complete line of potted plants, including such flowers as primroses, tulips, hyacinths, and others. Hundreds of potted plants have been sold to flower lovers during the past few months, and some homes in this city are never without them, according to Mr. Meidam.

Ferns, arbutus, and other kinds of vines and other forms of plant life for ferneries and home flower beds also are available there. For further information regarding beautiful bouquets, prepared and arranged by experts with years of experience in flower culture, inquire at the greenhouses at 1342 W. Prospect-ave or call 39-W.

BUSINESS COMING BACK EVERYWHERE, REPORTS INDICATE

Employment Speeds Up as Industries Hasten Production

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

New York —(AP)— Business has burned up the wires this week with messages to the old home town saying, "I'm coming back." It was surprising how many businessmen looked up and remarked, "Why we didn't know you had been away." Indications are multiplying that the check to business progress in recent months has been due to sentiment and psychology rather than to physical and actual conditions.

Today there seems small doubt about the fact that busines is on its way back. Employment is speeding up, as is shown by official reports to the department of labor. The reports to secretary of Commerce Lamont point to a construction year involving between 9 and 10 billions of dollars.

Representatives of a group of 60 trade associations got together in Washington and said in effect that one of the best things they could do to help the business situation was to spend a half a million in advertising to advise the country of real conditions.

CAR INDUSTRY EXPANDING

The Automobile manufacturers, whom everybody had been regarding with a feeling of pity, are speeding up production and finding customers to take the output promptly off their hands. Throughout the period when depression was supposed to exist, it now is apparent that Detroit, the motor capital, maintained a decidedly fair volume of employment and activity.

The steel mills are steadily bringing their outputs back toward the peaks attained in the fall of 1929. Naturally they stand to benefit to an extraordinary extent by reason of the spur of construction.

The oil industry is still under restraint. There are huge supplies in Oklahoma and California which are shut in. But the future of the industry over a long pull is as bright or brighter than ever it was.

The power plants of the nation are turning out more current than at this time last year and undoubtedly established a new record in 1929 by producing current to the extent of approximately a hundred billion kilowatt hours as compared with 78,849,579,000 kilowatt hours in 1928, the previous high mark.

Car loadings are off slightly as compared with 1929 but requirements as outlined by the regional shippers' advisory boards seem likely to bring them back to a high basis within a few weeks.

The anthracite industry is more active than it was but the bituminous coal mines are, many of them, still in difficulty.

ROADS PLAN MERGERS

Indications are not lacking that the railroads are preparing for new efforts toward consolidations along the general lines indicated by the interstate commerce commission. This is shown by the new move by the Baltimore & Ohio, the dissociating of the Delaware & Hudson from its coal holdings and the acquisition of a trucking line in New York city by the Van Sweringens, who control the Erie and to whom the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western has been assigned.

Machinery manufacturers still are well supplied with unfilled orders and the demand is not likely to drop off. The agricultural machinery manufacturers are recording excellent sales and so are the railroad equipment men. It is still far too early to forecast crop conditions. The situation of the cotton growers of the south, however, is far from satisfactory.

Retail sales are maintaining a steady pace, with a somewhat remarkable volume of apparel passing into the hands of consumers. The shoe and leather industry is still uneasy, largely because of tariff uncertainty.

NEW POLICIES OF DRY CLEANERS BIG AID TO HOUSEWIVES

Novelty Cleaners Use Latest Methods of Cleaning Any Fabrics

New policies are being adopted annually by dry cleaners making such establishments real public service stations, and relieving housewives of many of their cleaning problems, according to Charles Sparling, proprietor of the Novelty Cleaning shop on E. College-ave. The Novelty Cleaning shop is one of the oldest establishments of its kind in the city and is known for its reasonable rates.

During the past two or three weeks, the shop has been holding a cleaning sale for men's and women's clothing, whereby local people were able to save considerable. At present it is possible for men to have their suits and overcoats cleaned at prices never heard of before, according to Mr. Sparling.

Only the latest methods of cleaning clothing are used at the Novelty Cleaning shop. When clothes leave the shop they look like new, and there is no after odor of naptha or other cleaning concoctions used.

Silk gowns are cleaned by a special process and are handled with best of care. Gowns which years ago were declared ruined and spoiled from contact with greases and other compounds, which rendered them unfit to wear, are made to look like new.

The public seems to have been educated to the dangers of using various kinds of explosive cleaning compounds in the home, which have caused hundreds of deaths and heavy fire losses to homes and other property.

It doesn't pay to take a chance with explosive cleaning compounds when it costs so little to have your clothes cleaned at a reliable shop at such reasonable prices.

For further information regarding the low rates of the Novelty cleaning shop, inquire at 215 E. College-ave or phone 623.

SEEK TO PREVENT FAMINE IN CHINA

"Hoover" Food Saving Campaign Is Launched by General Tan Yen-kai

Nanking —(AP)— The Nationalist government is trying seriously at last to find a method of preventing the recurrent famines which annually decimate large sections of the population.

At a first step a food saving campaign has been launched. A set of "Hooverizing" regulations has been drawn up that, it is hoped, will be felt by every family in the land. Those with plenty of food will be taught not to waste it and those who are hungry will have a better chance to get the necessaries of life.

General Tan Yen-Kai, chairman of the administrative department of the government, is leader of the project. He heads a food committee composed of foreign agricultural experts and government officials.

One of the first duties of this committee will be to visit the famine areas and study food distribution, production and prices. The government expects to adopt a permanent food policy based upon the findings of this committee.

General Tan hopes to halt the secret exportation of food stuffs and to stop embargoes which now prevent transportation of eatables from one province to another. He also has in mind projects for lowering freight rates over both rail and water routes as a means of reducing prices.

FORMER "U" PRESIDENT STUDIED IN LAW SCHOOL

Half a century ago Dean Droke came to the university as a mathematics instructor. Later, he became president of the institution. He retired as a faculty member during the last school year and enrolled in the law school this fall.
